BRITISH GOVERNMENT HOST TO ENVOYS

NATION-WIDE REFERENDUM MAY RESULT

BLAINE'S PROPOSAL TO CONGRESS PAVES WAY

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1930, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, Jan. 20—Senator Blaine's proposal that a vote be taken in congress on the direct issue of whether the eighteenth amendment shall be repealed may ultimately lead to a nation-wide referendum.

Already some of the wets are saying that the Anti-Saloon League and other dry organizations have so intimidated members of congress by threatening opposition in the primaries and in the elections themselves that a two-thirds vote in both houses would be highly improbable.

Before a repeal amendment could be submitted to the states for ratification it would have to get the approval of two-thirds of both houses. There is a movement on foot to get at the same problem in another way by having a constitutional convention called with delegates from each state. Under the constitution such a convention can propose amendments for submission to the legislatures and for several years petitions have been circulated to get the necessary number of states to agree to the calling of such a convention.

Public Sentiment Issue.

The central issue in prohibition around which enforcement revolves is public sentiment. It is becoming every day more apparent that one of the federal government's greatest problems is discouraging those who patronize bootleggers. Many of these people are insisting that the majority in America do not approve of prohibition. The drys on the other hand point to the attitude of congress and the states. A general referendum, it is believed, would be the only way that wets and drys would be convinced on this point.

If it became evident that the majority of the people wanted prohibition to stay, the problem on enforcement would be simplified to some extent because a demonstration of public opinion would add weight to the idea that the minority must obey the laws made by the majority. If, on the other hand, a considerable sentiment for modification appeared, this would have a powerful influence on the attitude of members of congress.

Want Wines and Beer.

Special machinery for a referendum would have to be provided by an act of congress. There have been various test votes in several of the states but the difficulty with each of the tests has been the disagreement as to the wording of the proposal submitted. Many of the wets are in favor of a simple proposal which would ask the American people to vote on whether the

Schurman Is Given A Farewell Party

Berlin, Jan. 20 (AP)—Jacob Gould Schurman, retiring United States ambassador, tonight was given a farewell banquet by the foreign office. Among those present were Chancellor Mueller, Minister of Defense Groener, Under-Secretary of State Von Schubert, the staffs of the American embassy and consulate, former Chancellor Cuno, President Schacht of the Reichsbank and other leaders of the intellectual, industrial and political life of Germany.

FOX SUED FOR STOCK FRAUD

Claim He Misused Corporation's Funds For Market Speculation

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Charges that William Fox speculated in the stock market with funds of the Fox Film corporation in a fruitless effort to raise money to meet obligations of the company and its affiliates, were contained in a suit in federal court today for an equity receivership for the corporation. It was the second such suit to be filed in the last three days.

The plaintiff in today's suit was Mrs. Susie Dryden Kuser, of Somerset county, New Jersey, widow of Anthony R. Kuser, one of the original Fox backers, who died last November.

Unlike Ira M. Gast, of Rutherford, N. J., who filed a similar action Saturday on behalf of Class A—non-voting—stockholders, Mrs. Kuser owns 11,150 shares of Class B, or voting, stock in her own right and controls 8,000 more as executrix of her husband's estate.

Used Corporation Funds

She charged that until the end of last October, Fox carried a number of speculative accounts both in

INFLUX WILL BE UNCHANGED

Mexican Immigrants Will Not Be Restricted By New Bills

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—The possibility that restriction of immigration from the western hemisphere might not resut in an actual reduction in the number of aliens admitted as immigrants from some of the countries in the new world was considered in testimony today before the house immigration committee.

John Farr Simmons, chief of the visa division of the state department, said the present annual immigration from Canada was slightly under 20,000, while the Johnson bill would permit the entry of approximately 50,000 annually. He advanced the opinion that enactment of the proposal would not bring any great objection from either side of the Canadian border.

Mexicans Not Restricted

Testimony indicating that the influx of immigrants from Mexico might not be restricted to any great extent by the Johnson or Box bills was brought out in questioning of Monett B. Davis, foreign service inspector of the state department. A large reduction in the number of immigrants from the nations of the new world had been brought about in the past year through conferences with consular officials of the various countries, he said, in which more uniform methods of issuing immigrant visas were put in force.

He produced figures showing a decrease in Mexican immigration of about 71 per cent brought about by these conferences.

KILLS SIXTEEN AS HUGE AIR LINER CRASHES

MONOPLANE HITS GROUND AND BURNS

BY WALTER B. CLAUSEN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Los Angeles, Jan. 20 (AP)—A pitiful, crumpled mass of wreckage in a muddy California bean field eighty miles south of here today marked the greatest disaster in American commercial air transportation. Sixteen persons, eight women and eight men, went to a quick death there last night when one of the most modern sky liners, a tri-motored all-metal monoplane of the Transcontinental Air Transport-Maddux line cracked up and burned. All on board were lost, the two pilots and 14 pasengers.

Result of Squall

It was a sacrifice to the storm in the opinion of officials of the preliminary stages of investigation. A sudden squall from the sea pressed the great monoplane down to earth and its destruction as the pilot was seeking to turn and scurry back to safety, in the opinion of D. W. Tomilson, chief of the operations of the owing company who today surveyed the wreckage.

Independent investigations are being carried on by the United States department of commerce, division of aeronautics, the coroner of San Diego county and the T. A. T. line. A formal inquest merely to legally identify and release the bodies of the victims to relatives will be held tomorrow at Oceanside, near the scene. Resumption of the inquest to determine the cause of the accident and to fix the responsibility will

Urges Bill To Stop Frauds On Patents

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—A. C. Paul, Minneapolis, chairman of the legislative commitee of the American Bar association, advocated to the house committee on patents today the passage of the Cramton bill to prevent patent frauds.

The bill would provide that persons not authorized to practice before the patent office and lawyers disbarred by the patent office be prevented from advertising in the press. Representative Cramton, Republican, Michigan, appearing in behalf of his measure, said the practice of retaining patent attorneys through newspaper advertising had offered great opportunity for unscrupulous lawyers to swindle their clients.

OIL COMPANIES HIT BY COURT

U. S. Court of Appeals Decides They Violated Anti-Trust Laws

Chicago, Jan. 20 (AP)—Two judges of the United States circuit court of appeals upheld their previous judgment today in declaring that the Standard Oil companies of Indiana and New Jersey, the Texas corporation and 49 other oil companies violated the anti-trust laws in pooling the processes for cracking gasoline.

A decree affirming a verdict of guilt pronounced in the lower court was issued and the court enjoined the companies permanently from further violations. The injunction, however, and the decree were stayed pending an appeal to the federal supreme court by the oil concerns.

Reversed Finding

Appellate Judges Evan A. Evans and George T. Page issued the decree. Sitting en banc with Judge A. B. Anderson as federal district judges last June they had reversed the finding of a master in chancery who had held the government had not proved its case. Judge Anderson dissented at the time. He since has retired from the bench.

Close In On Men Who Shot Detectives

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—County authorities tonight believed they were rapidly closing in on two of the three escaped convicts from Connecticut who last Friday night shot down two detectives in a pitched gun fight here.

The third member of the trio, Leo Landry, who was taken into custody in a downtown drug store, signed a confession today admitting that he was one of the three escaped convicts, but denying that he fired any of the shots which resulted in the death of Detective W. D. Smith and the serious wounding of Willie Jones, another detective.

Senate Takes Articles Off Retaliatory Provision

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—In line with its action in the special session in eliminating from the tariff bill the existing retaliatory provision on automobiles, the senate today struck out four similar sections affecting foreign coal, explosives, paper board, wall board, pulp board, calcium acetate or chloride, nitrate and cyanimid.

Under the sections stricken out, the United States has heretofore been permitted to meet foreign tariffs on similar articles from this country whenever a foreign nation levied a duty exceeding the American or placed an import tax on an article on the domestic free list.

On Free List

In the case of pulp board, wall board and paper board, now dutiable at 10 per cent, the United States, under the action taken today, could not raise this levy to 15 per cent if, for example, Canada raised its duty on the American product to 15 per cent. Coal and the other items affected by the senate's actions are now on the American free list.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, who said the state department believed no advantage had been derived from the retaliatory or countervailing clauses and "a great deal of disadvantage and dissatisfaction" had resulted.

Smoot Gives Views

"For instance," he said, "some country might impose a duty of

WETS TO TRY NEW METHOD TO TURN DRY LAWS

WILL SELECT COMMITTEE TO HOLD HEARINGS

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Congress began work today on the administration program for strengthening prohibition enforcement while the house wets decided on a new departure in their attempt to secure modification of the dry laws.

The militant bloc unanimously elected Representative Linthicum, Democrat, Maryland, as its chairman. It also decided to select an unofficial committee from its membership to hold hearings on bills for the modification and repeal of the prohibition laws.

Drys Fight Critics

A while earlier Mrs. Mary T. Norton, representative from New Jersey, had asked for a national referendum of the eighteenth amendment. In a statement accompanying her resolution, she declared that "women who believe as I do in temperance realize that as an experiment noble or otherwise, prohibition has failed."

House drys fought back at Representative Black, Iowa, and Prohibition Commissioner Doran for their denunciation of critics of the prohibition personnel. The New Yorker was forced to withdraw from the record the personal remarks.

No attention was given to Mrs. Norton's resolution as the committees of the dry dominated house and senate started work on the law enforcement program.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, in a breakfast talk with President Hoover, expressed the view that prohibition would come up in the senate when the long pending tariff and Muscle Shoals problems had been settled. A number of prohibition arguments both pro and con, are being gathered in the senate during the tariff debate and there is going to be a thorough thrashing out of the issue

Paraguay-Bolivian Clash to be Quizzed

Asuncion, Paraguay, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Council of Ministers after a long meeting with President Jose P. Guggiari tonight resolved to send to the League of Nations and to neutrals signatory to the Washington protocol a complete account of the Paraguayan version of the recent clash at Isla Poi between Bolivian and Paraguayan forces.

This morning the ministers of the United States, Brazil, Peru, Uruguay and Chile called at the foreign office to discuss the international aspects of the case. It was reported today from Isla Poi that the Paraguayans held the body of the Bolivian Lance Corporal Fernandez, who was killed in the skirmish. A Paraguay slao died.

The exchange of shots lasted several hours but it was believed there were no other casualties.

Ionia Fire Results In $200,000 Damage

Ionia, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Two business blocks, including Ionia's new Masonic temple, were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early this morning with a loss of more than $200,000.

The fire was discovered at 3 a. m. in a store on the ground floor of the Chaffee block, one of the affected buildings, and firemen fought the flames continuously until nearly noon before bringing them completely under control.

GIVE CASHIER LONG SENTENCE

Dufty Gets From Three To Twenty Years In Reformatory

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—John R. Dufty's dream of quick and easy riches through stock market speculation, which caused him to risk funds of the bank he had served for two decades, today brought him a sentence of from three to twenty years in the Michigan reformatory at Ionia.

Dufty, who was cashier of the Merrill State Bank at Merrill, Mich., pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling $35,000 before Circuit Judge Martin, who immediately passed sentence. He will not be taken to prison, however, until he has assisted state bank examiners in their audit of the bank's books.

Dufty's career came to a close last Friday when Detroit police drew from him the confession that he had "faked" the holdup and robbery of the bank ten days ago. Dufty had come to Detroit to attempt to identify suspects in connection with the robbery and his zealousness in this respect coupled with certain technical shortcomings in his story of the robbery resulted in his arrest. More than $13,000 supposed to have been taken by the robbers was found in one of the bank's safety deposit vaults where Dufty had hidden it.

In his confession to Detroit authorities Dufty said he had hit on the robbery scheme as the easiest way to cover up certain shortages in his accounts which had been caused by his unsuccessful activities in the stock market.

WILL IMPROVE FERRY SERVICE

State Administrative Board Approves Of $500,000 Budget

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Improvements to the state ferry service across the Straits of Mackinac, involving the expenditure of $500,000, were authorized by the state administrative board today.

The plan was advanced recently by Governor Green. It provides for a new dock on the St. Ignace side at Furnace site, for enlarging the dock at the lower peninsula side, for double decking two of the three ferries, for ramps to facilitate loading of cars and for a park at the upper peninsula end.

Residents Divided

In a hearing before the highway committee of the administrative board a few days ago residents of St. Ignace were divided, some favoring the new location for the dock and others opposing it on the grounds that it would divert traffic from business sections.

Governor Green asserted the new location of the dock, which will cut fifteen minutes from the round trip running time, and the enlargements to it will be the equivalent of a fourth ferry boat.

LAUNCH PLAN TO CURB COSTS OF ARMAMENTS

MEET WITH CONFIDENCE FOR SUCCESS

By FRANK HAVILAND KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Jan. 20 (AP)—The five-power effort to curb the ever-mounting costs and risks of naval armaments was launched tonight by a welcoming banquet at the Savoy Hotel given by the British government.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald described the hope and confidence of his government to the assembled representatives of France, Italy, Japan and the United States. Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state, in replying for the visiting delegations expressed the conviction that the conference was one of the rare occasions in history out of which a permanent step toward peace might gain impetus.

MacDonald Holds Reception

The leading representatives of the five powers were welcomed during the day as a body by Premier MacDonald at 10 Downing street and by King George at Buckingham palace. Tonight after the banquet Mr. MacDonald held a large reception for all of the delegates, experts and advisers and their wives.

Meanwhile the final delicate touches were made to the magnificent setting for their labors in the royal gallery of the house of lords.

In the shadowed spaces of the great gallery, where King George will convene the inaugural plenary session at 11 a. m. tomorrow, a minute inspection of that arrangements for the historic meeting meeting was carried out. From the golden throne chair and the king's silver microphone to the lighting effects that will [illegible] photographers to get pictures without flashlight every detail was pronounced perfect.

Running Smoothly

The eve of the conference has arrived and passed without the cropping out of a single incident to mar the progress toward successful evolution of a program for naval disarmament and furthing the peace of the world.

Secretary Stimson spoke to the assembled delegates, pleading for a spirit of frankness and good will for the realization of the lofty purposes of the conference, and his words seemed to call a deep note of response from the other delegates and the distinguished guests.

His tributes to King George and to Prime Minister MacDonald, and then to France, Italy and Japan were received with great applause.

French Urges Abolition Of Battleships From World Navies

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Advocating that all categories of naval ships be clearly defined at the conference opening in London tomorrow, Representative French, Republican, Idaho, urged in the house today the obolition of the battleships from the navies of the world.

After a White House conference with President Hoover, the Idahoan addressed his colleagues for an hour. Significance was attached to his views by many because of his position as chairman of the sub-committee which handles appropriations for the navy department.

Definite Limitation

French said that if the London conference failed to attain definiteness in all categories of naval vessels and reasonable limitation in each category, the construction race between the powers would begin again on those ships on which there is no limitation.

Discussing the entire subject of armaments from an economic view, the Idahoan said the naval construction program of this country would amount to $2,000,000,000 within fifteen years besides the $400,000,000 annually for maintenance and operation should the London parley fail. He advocated the scrapping of all vessels which had passed from the use for which they were built, and listed the battleship as the first which should be abandoned.

French contended the battleship was no longer the backbone of the fleet, saying the submarine and aircraft would make it necessary for those largest combat vessels to seek the safest harbors in the next war.

The Idaho representative made plain, however, that he would oppose the United States scrapping the battleship unless other nations agreed to do likewise.

Stimson Speaks For Visiting Delegations At Arms Conference

London, Jan. 20 (AP)—The following is the text of the address delievered by Colonel Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state, tonight at the British preliminary to the opening of the naval arms conference:

It is a great pleasure to acknowledge the gracious hospitality with which we have been received by our hosts on this occasion. It is also a great privilege to speak for the visiting delegations to the conference and to voice our appreciation of this invitation and of the importance of the occasion for which we are met. I am confident that each of our nations appreciates that greatness of this opportunity.

A Step Toward Peace

The people of the United States recognize this as one of those rare occasions of history out of which, provided only the necessary conditions of spirit are present, a long and permanent step forward on the road towards peace may be taken for all the nations of the earth. Those conditions are mutual good will and an honest effort on the part of each one of us to understand the circumstances and difficulties which surround our sister nations here represented.

I earnestly plead for such good will and such an endeavor. I earnestly plead that we approach this conference table with no desire to overreach our fellow-countrymen but with a sincere will to obtain a result which will be faithful and beneficial to all. No other result will stand the test of time. No other accomplishment of this conference will be permanent.

Seek Mutual Agreement

The chief purpose of our meeting is to transform the process of naval armament from a method

B&PW HOLDS DINNER MEET

Business and Professional Men Are Guests of Local Club

With men representing the business, professional and industrial life of the community as its guests, the Business and Professional Women's club held an enjoyable and interesting banquet meeting at the Ludington hotel last evening. About seventy-five persons were present.

Thrift was the theme of the meeting, in observance of National Thrift Week which rightfully has been designated as beginning with the birthday anniversary on January 17 of Benjamin Franklin, the famous statesman, writer, philosopher, inventor and apostle of the doctrine of prudent living. Talks on the topic of thrift were given by prominent business men.

Banker Talks Thrift

The first speaker was Leslie French, cashier of the First National bank, who gave a highly interesting talk in which he recited some of the famous maxims of Benjamin Franklin on the subject.

"Thrift does not mean being miserly or penurious," Mr. French said. "It means the spending of money wisely and saving carefully, that is, living within one's means. Thrifty men care for their families and provide for themselves in their later years."

Associating the matter of life insurance with thrift, W. Scott Heim, Marquette insurance agent, delivered a talk, which was both interesting and entertaining.

"Thrift is cultivating a mental attitude toward life which makes us want to get more out of it," Mr. Heim explained. "Thrift is putting on two lights instead of one so that we might save our eyesights for many years in the future; it is putting in extra shovelfuls of coal that the health of ourselves and families may be saved; it is not taking our children out of school when they are young to have them earn $10 a week, but continuing their education until someday they will be making more than $100 per week."

Life Insurance Grows

Life insurance plays its part in the thrift scheme because it offers a systematic plan for saving, Mr. Heim said. Describing the growth of the life insurance system in this country, he said that there were 28 million policies in force in 1910, about 67 million in 1920, and 123 million in 1930. Citizens are buying insurance at the rate of 20 billion dollars per year, he said.

Talks On "Bonds"

"Bonds" was the subject of an instructive talk by Clyde J. Burns, upper peninsula representative for J. A. Minnear & Co., investment brokers of Iron Mountain. He described the various types of bonds, warning his listeners that they should hesitate before buying a bond promising a high yield, but which is uncertain. Safe bonds with a reasonable yield, herecommended.

"A bond is a promise to pay a certain, precise sum of money at a certain definite rate of interest at a certain, specified time, which is commonly called the maturity date," Mr. Burns gave as a definition.

Talking on the topic of real estate, George McEwen of Escanaba told his audience that the desire for shelter and food dates back to primitive times. Owning a home is a satisfaction that is not enjoyed by the renter, he said, as it gives one a feeling of independence and interest in improving living conditions. Mr. McEwen spoke of the installment payment plan as providing a means nowadays for everyone to own a home.

Senator Rushton Speaks

Senator H. J. Rushton, in a general talk, paid tribute to the members of the Business and Professional Women's club, stating that "It is encouraging to see so many girls and women making their own living."

In closing, he analyzed the causes of the disrespect for law that exists in the country today, explaining that there is too much class distinction in the meting out of justice. Men in high stations of life, with money and influence, can evade the law's penalty, while those persons less privileged are given punishment.

Other speakers were H. P. Lindsay, H. G. Saunderson, Jack Bartells, Torval E. Strom and Judd Yelland. Miss Lillian Perkins acted as chairman of the entertainment program, while Mrs. Lillian Reynolds presided at the business session. Assembly singing was also enjoyed.

eighteenth amendment should be so modified as to permit the sale of light wines and beer. The drys, of course, would oppose this on the ground that it would mean the return of the saloon, or at least the establishment of a distribution system through which whiskey would be sold. The question really is whether with the large number of points of distribution for whiskey already established in the large cities there would be any considerable diminution if light wines and beer could be legally sold with the understanding that the beverages could not be consumed on the premises.

Drys Also in Favor.

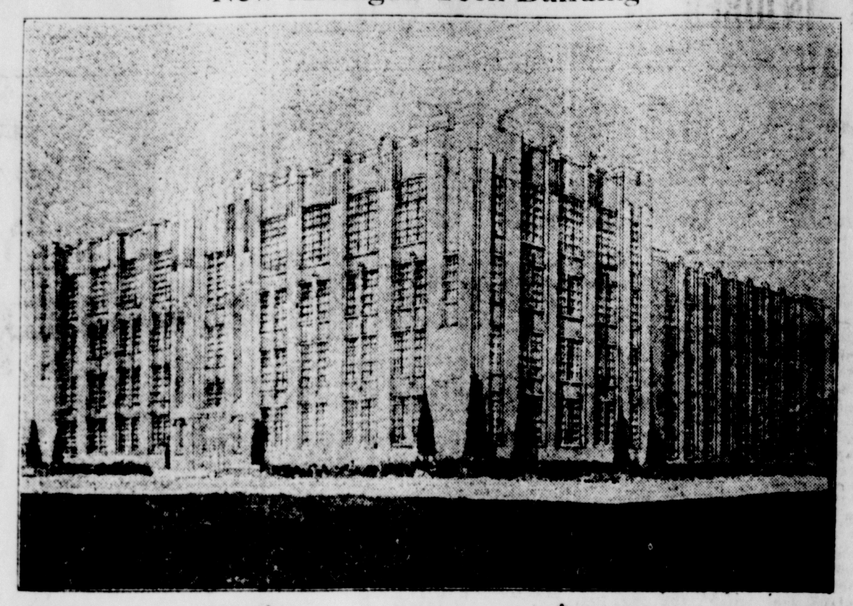
On this point there has been much academic discussion with the constant reference to the Canadian system, but before there is any real progress one way or the other on prohibition the matter of what public sentiment really is on the subject will have to be settled. That is why Senator Blaine's request for a vote on repeal brings to a climax the whole prohibition controversy. While the idea of voting on the repeal comes from a wet, Senator Borah and other drys favor it.

The question really is what do the majority of the people want and is congress representative of the majority. It has been such a long time since a clear-cut issue on prohibition has been voted on in congress that wets and drys welcome the opportunity to record themselves though a large number who are on the fence will prefer to sidetrack the vote. Up to now most of the legislative proposals have had to do with the more vigorous enforcement of the law or the interpretation of the eighteenth amendment. The belief has prevailed that light wines and beer could be obtained by modification of the Volstead Act. The drys have insisted that the only thing that could be modified to bring about such results is the eighteenth amendment. Former Senator Wadsworth of New York once offered a substitute for the eighteenth amendment and it is not unlikely that when the congress finally votes it will not be on an out and out repeal but on an affirmative proposal which can be submitted as a substitute for the eighteenth amendment.

It has been proposed for instance, that congress be given full power to decide the extent to which the manufacture of alcoholic beverages shall be permitted. The idea back of this is to leave it to a majority of congress to determine what are the changing desires of the American people. It is really the expression of a disinclination to go through the more roundabout process of submitting amendments to the various states legislatures and is based on the theory that the eighteenth amendment as at present written is not a grant of power but an act of legislation and that the original constitution looked toward the idea of defining the powers of congress in the states but leaving it to each to legislate accordingly.

The significant thing about Senator Blane's proposal is that the issue is being more clearly drawn and when public sentiment is defined the problem of enforcement will be in turn effected.

New Michigan Tech Building



The new Electrical-Mechanical Engineering building to be built at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, this year, will be the most handsome structure on the Michigan Tech campus. It will be of reinforced concrete construction with face brick exterior and stone trim. The architecture will be along the lines of the so-called "modern style" with pilasters extending the four floors. The building will be L shaped. The main block, which will be four stories high with the front entrance in the center, will be 160 feet by 65 feet. The wing, three stories high, will run back 110 feet from the main block and will be 48 feet wide.

There will be no basement floor. The first floor will house principally laboratories, including a laboratory for automotive engines and combustion engines, a laboratory for highway engineering and cement testing, a main laboratory for the testing of materials, a laboratory for electrical engineering extending over the whole wing. The second floor will house most of the offices, a main lecture room for 180 students, several class rooms, a large drawing room for advanced students, and advanced laboratories for electrical engineering students. The third floor will be occupied almost entirely by the Department of Geology with a large mineralogical laboratory and various geological laboratories and a large room for the Michigan Geological Survey. The fourth floor will contain a mineralogical and geological museum which will house the specimens now contained in the Museum roorm of the Administration building. This will cover the entire main block with the exception of small experimental Radio room. The roof will be prepared for two radio towers.

The automotive laboratory will be equipped for the study and testing of automotive equipment of all sorts. One of the principal pieces of equipment will be an electric dynamometer for the complete testing of internal combustion engines under power. WILLIAM E. LA PLANTE

Peshtigo, Wis., Jan. 20—Funeral services for the late William E. LaPlante who passed away at New York City Wednesday morning, were held Saturday morning from St. Mary's Catholic church at 8:30 o'clock, with the Rev. D. Szopinski officiating at the requiem mass.

Mr. LaPlante was a former home boy and was born in this city and had reached the age of fifty years on August 7. He left here many years ago but returned to visit nearly every year. He held a splendid position, being chief clerk of the Southern Pacific railway offices in New York City, a position he held for nearly twenty years.

Mr. LaPlante's health had been failing for the past two years, the final end being caused by heart trouble. He is survived by his widow, one brother, Mayadore, of Escanaba, and a sister, Mrs. C. W. Constantine, of Madison.

The pallbearers at the funeral were the Messrs. Herman Picard, Edward Thibodeau, John Chatell, Albert Archimbault, Gorge Wood of Marinette and Joseph Kellner of Menominee. Interment was at Riverside cemetery and the bronze casket, covered with beautiful flowers, was placed in the Riverside mausoleum.

Detroit—Police Friday closed the Oriental Cafe, 247 Michigan avenue, in the heart of the downtown district, until such time as adequate exits ordered by the department of buildings and safety engineering are installed. The closing order is an outgrowth of the strict supervision of night clubs and cabarets which was instituted after the fire at the Study club in which 23 persons lost their lives. The Study club is said to have had inadequate exits and fire escapes.

Air mail service has just been inaugurated between San Luis Potosi and Torreon, Mexico.

McGillan Urged For Wisconsin's Supreme Court

James H. McGillan, prominent Green Bay attorney, well known in Escanaba, and a brother-in-law of Hugh Robertson of this city, is being mentioned prominently as a justice of the Wisconsin supreme court to succeed the late Franz C. Eschweiler.

Attorneys throughout the state of Wisconsin who favor a practicing attorney for the supreme bench are reported as urging Mr. McGillan's appointment, although he has stated that the move has been undertaken "without his knowledge and consent." It is believed by friends, however, that he will accept the appointment if it is offered him.

Mr. Gillan recently completed a term as moyor of Green Bay, and was a candidate for congress from the district. He has also been prominent in American Legion work, serving three years as commander of Sullivan post of Green Bay, was national committeeman from Wisconsin, and was offered the office of state commander on several occasions. He is now a lieutenant commander of the naval reserve and a member of the naval affairs committee of the National Legion organization.

Modern apartment buildings are being constructed in Tientsin, China.

LEGION HAS A LIVE MEETING

Escanaba Wins National Citation; May Buy Club House

Launching into what promises to be one of the most outstanding years in the Escanaba American Legion, Cloverland Post No. 82 held an enthusiastic meeting at the Eagles hall last night and outlined plans for some of the major activities which will be carried out in 1930.

As an evidence of the high rating which the local post holds this year, Commander Henry Breault displayed for the first time the citation presented to Cloverland Post by national headquarters for rating over 100 per cent in 1930 memberships by November 18 of last year, the closing date for competition in the nation-wide membership campaign. The local group was one of the few so honored in the United States, and the citation will be treasured as a trophy of this record.

Inspect Property

Arrangements for continuing the work of tree planting along the highway were made when the body voted to purchase 100 additional elm trees for setting out on "Memory Lane," extending along the highway out of Escanaba.

Two members of the post who have served the post in official capacities were presented with watch-chain emblems as tokens of appreciation for their past efforts on behalf of the post and in community service. The recipients were George Petry and Edward Moersch, both former adjutants.

A communication from the housing committee, reporting favorably on a piece of local property deemed suitable for purchase as a permanent Legion clubhouse, was read at the meeting, and the post voted to meet in a body Sunday morning to inspect the house and location. The group will gather at the police station at 10 a. m., and every member was invited to be present.

Strom Is Speaker

Following the business session, the program committee presented the St. Joseph orchestra in a series of lively and tuneful musical numbers, and the Holy Name society male quartet pleased with song selections.

Attorney Torval E. Strom addressed the assemblage, and opened up new avenues of activity in his suggestions for the Legion's creed of community service. Attorney Strom commended the post's Americanization program, and urged that it be extended to also include assistance for the immigrant trying to be a good American. He also urged that the members of the Legion "practice what they preach" in Americanization, by voting at elections, school, city, state and national, and taking an active part in the campaigns to secure the men best fitted to serve the public in their respective offices.

Lunch was served in the basement as the concluding feature of the meeting, which was attended by more than 75 local Legionnaires.

not be had until later in the week when field examinations are completed.

On 120 Mile Run

It was dark shortly after 6 o'clock last night when the sky liner with its capacity load was speeding from Agua Caliente, Lower California to Los Angeles, a run of some 120 air miles.

Over Oceanside, less than half way, a low ceiling was encountered. Some twelve miles north Pilot Basil Russell found the clouds lowering with a rain squall. Then came the end, while other planes were scurrying back to San Diego.

Passengers in the Western Air Express monoplane on the same run, which turned back to San Diego safely, witnessed the flames of the gasoline explosion. So did many motorists on the nearby San Diego-Los Angeles highway.

No Motor Trouble

Tomlison summoned to the scene last night, today made the following report:

"I have just returned from the scene of the crash. An inspection of the wreckage was made by J. G. Nall of the department of commerce and myself. We agreed there was no indication of mechanical trouble."

"I believe the plane was making a left hand turn. Pilot Basil Russell hooked his left wing on the hillside. Weather reported today showed a 1,200 foot ceiling forecast when the plane left Agua Caliente.

Strikes Ground on Turn

"What probably happened was that a sudden local squall came in from the ocean near San Clemenate and struck the plane. In such circumstances if a pilot is flying at 400 to 500 foot altitude the storm will descend directly on top of the plane, forcing him to earth.

"It seems that Russell saw this storm and turned, trying to avoid it, but it struck him and threw him earthward. That is as far as we can get now.

"Tomorrow morning I will convene a board of inquiry made up of our company pilots. The meeting will be open to the press."

This analysis is strikingly similar to the story of the disaster of a T. A. T. plane of similar type, last September when it crashed against Mount Taylor, New Mexico, while fleeing from a storm and all aboard perished, five passengers and a crew of three.

Stimson Speaks At Arms Conference

of competition to one of mutual agreement and limitation. Economy is only an important by-product of such an end. Our real aim is to remove the secrecy, the rivalry, the mutual irritation which inevitably attends the precedent of competition in armament and to leave each nation free to have an adequate national defense which will yet not be a source of worry and suspicion to its neighbors.

Manifestly such a result can only be obtained by frankness and good will. Manifestly if any one of us leaves this conference feeling that his country has been coerced into a n unfavorable agreement of our chief purpose will not have been attained. A sence of injury will remain as a ranking sore to plague our mutual relations in future years.

Promote Good Will

I think I can pledge you that the American delegation, sincerely endeavoring to carry out the loftty purposes of their chief, the president of the United States, will enter the conference in such a spirit of frankness and good will.

We are honored that his majesty the king, whose hospitality we have enjoyed today and whose subjects from all parts of the British commonwealth of nations are represented at the conference, will open our deliberations.

We also feel that we are most happy in the personality of the gentleman who is the chief delegate of the nation which is our host—the Right Honorable Ramsay MacDonald. Mr. MacDonald upon his recent visit to the United States made a deep and lasting impression upon our countrymen. They were strongly attracted by his character. They followed his utterances with approval. To them he seemed the personification of international good will and of a lofty desire for peace on earth.

Visit is Friendly

His visit was neither intended to nor did in any way negotiate changes in the official relations of the countries. But my countrymen regard Mr. MacDonald's connection with this conference as an earnest of the good will which they hope will animate its councils.

We feel that we have a fortunate augury also in our friendly sympathetic relations with each of the other three nations represented here. The feelings of the average American citizen for France are flavored with an affection which dates back to the foundations of our nation and which received a new and powerful impulse in our admiration for her gallant fight for human liberty in the Great war. Our ties with Italy stretch between thousands of homes in either country and America has followed Italy's rapid growth in union and nationality during the past century with keen interest and admiration.

Respect Japan

Towards Japan we have not only a friendship and esteem based on long and intimate association since the earliest days of her intercourse with western nations, but also a higher appreciation of her vital service to the world as a great stabilizing force in the Far East.

Knowing these facts and sentiments as I do, I have no hesitation in pledging you the success of the coming conference. I feel confident that each of us in the spirit which I have referred to will join in a common effort to make this meeting a great and notable land-mark in humanity's progress towards that time when nations will dwell together in permanent confidence and amity and when all of their questions will be settled by the methods of justice and friendship and never by the arbitrament of force.

WETS TO TRY NEW METHOD TO TURN DRY LAWS

some time next month, if no sooner.

Borah Not In Agreement

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who has been severely criticising the personnel of prohibition enforcement, declined to heed Commissioner Doran's declaration that the "inflammatory attacks upon our personnel" were to blame for the killing of two dry agents by a suspected bootlegger in Florida Saturday.

"I have an idea," the Idahoan remarked off the floor, "that this fellow was guarding some alcohol which Dr. Doran permits him to get."

Borah has attacked the administration of permits for industrial alcohol by Commissioner Doran. He has made it clear, however, that he was making no charge of corruption but rather of laxity.

South Experiences Relief From Cold

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 20 (AP)—While moderate temperatures had brought relief from the extreme cold which spread over the south last week, Arkansas and other border states had not yet shaken off the grip of winter.

A rising thermometer today melted most of the snow that had fallen in Arkansas, but tonight a heavy snowstorm sent the mercury down to 22 degrees in Northern Arkansas, while in the southern section of the state a cold rain was falling. At Fayetteville in Northwest Arkansas the snow was nearing six inches in depth.

COURT GETS AT PADLOCK CASES

Judge Will Give His Decision Within Two Weeks

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 20—Eight padlock cases were taken up by the district federal court here yesterday afternoon as the court closed for the January term. Seven of the cases originated in the neighborhood of Escanaba while the other case was a local case concerning the lower part of the Breen block Ashmun street.

The Escanaba cases were John Sharkey, Dan Dwyer, Pat McNellis, Fred Morton, William Rawley, John Brown and Mirko Skradski. Temporary injunctions had been placed on all seven buildings as a result of a raid by federal officers within the past year. The owners were attempting to prove to the court just cause why their buildings should not be padlocked. Judge Fred Raymond presiding at court stated that he would give his decisions within the next two weeks from his offices in Grand Rapids.

The remainder of the cases slated to come before the current term of court were ordered held over till the April term in Marquette.

YOUNG PLAN IS FINALLY O. K.'D

The Hague, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Young plan for World war reparations payments, regarded as finally removing the damage bills from the sphere of diplomacy to that of economics where creditor and debtor alike can co-operate, was formally adopted today.

The protocol giving effect to the successor of the Dawes plan was signed in the historic Binnenhof at 4:40 p. m. The many-sided problem had resisted solution to the last and even the signing required postponement for six hours to enable an agreement on the eastern reparations phase.

There are many compromises in the long and complicated document with its attendant annexes and agreements. No one could be found to say he was completely satisfied with it, but British Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden told the final session: "If nobody has had his own way at least the result was generally satisfactory."

Mr. Snowden added that the almost complete settlement of the eastern reparations muddle was all the more creditable because the problem for ten years "defied the wisdom of the statesmen of Europe to solve it." He complimented the German delegation on the courageout, firm and fair attitude it had maintained throughout the conference and stressed the fact that "international problems are henceforth to be settled not between allies and enemies but between comrades and friends.

"A wrong to one is a wrong to all. The interests of one country are the interests of all," he said.

There were revisions of the documents up to the last fifteen minutes. It required a whole hour to sign the twenty-two separate agreements that compose the whole protocol.

S. Parker Gilbert, the American who has served for years as the agent general for reparations with headquarters in Germany, was an interested and seemingly pleased spectator of the formality which abolished his job. He and his staff, the whole reparations commission and all control missions born of the Versailles treaty have no place under the Young plan.

They are replaced by the Bank for International Settlements the statutes of which were adopted, along with the charter and trust agreement made by the central banks of issue with the new international institution. The bank will be set up in Basel, Switzerland, and Germany will share in its direction with her creditors. The directors now will be named and as soon as they can meet the head of the bank will be chosen. It will be ready to function on payment of subscriptions to the capital and deposit of funds by Germany and the creditor powers as provided for in the plan. The names of five Americans have been submitted as candidates to head the institution and it may be that one of them will be chosen.

LAUNCH PLAN TO CURB COSTS OF ARMAMENTS

Mr. Stimson asked his fellow delegates to "approach this conference table with no desire to overreach out fellow countrymen but with a sincere will to obtain a result which will be faithful and beneficial to all."

He defined the chief purpose of the meeting as "to transform the process of naval armament from a method of competition to one of mutual agreement and limitation."

In this process economy was "only an important by-product.

"Our real aim is to remove the secrecy, the rivalry, the mutual irritation which inevitably attended to precedent of competition in armaments and to leave each nation free to have an adequate national defense which will yet not be a source of worry and suspicion to its neighbors."

Frankness and Good Will

He pledged the American delegation, carrying out President Hoover's purposes, to enter the conference "in such a spirit of frankness and good will."

Paying tribute to the importance and efficacy of Prime Minister MacDonald's visit to the United States, Mr. Stimson was careful to state that his visit was "neither intended to nor did in any negotiate changes in the official relations of the countries."

Immediately after the banquet Prime Minister MacDonald hastened to Lancaster House, next door to St. James' Palace, and there at the famous old London mansion that once was the center of the capital social life, the labor chieftain, with his daughter, Ishbel, at his side, received 2,000 guests at an official reception.

In the charming informality of the MacDonalds' hospitality the wives of the American and the other delegates were conspicuous. The ladies appeared in the official conference picture for the first time at the banquet tonight, and for the second time at the reception.

The conference activities today began with the gathering of the twenty-seven chief delegates in the British cabinet room at Number 10 Downing street, where important questions of procedure were decided upon.

The meeting was not without a very human incident of interruption. The British dirigible R-100, slipping through the haze over London, attracted the attention of the delegates with the steady hum of her motors, and the statesmen went to have a look at her.

The delegates agreed that Prime Minister MacDonald should be elected chairman of the conference tomorrow. After the inaugural session they will adjourn until Thursday, reassembling at the permanent conference hall in St. James' Palace.

Wednesday will be devoted to the further exchange of views among the five delegations, and on Thursday morning each of the chief delegates will make a general statement of his country's naval needs. Prime Minister MacDonald, Secretary Stimson, Premier Tardieu, Foreign Minister Grandi, and ex-Premier Wakatsuki will speak.

Returning to Buckingham Palace from Sandringham, King George today entered his share of the conference activity. After a great welcome from the people of London, His Majesty received the delegates at the palace.

Mr. MacDonald introduced each visiting delegate to the king, who chatted informally with the visitors and expressed to each delegation his hopes for a successful termination of the great work to be launched tomorrow.

On no similar important occasion in history has a British monarch planned such an informal journey to the houses of parliament as King George will make dressed in ordinary morning attire and leaving aside the usual pageantry of a royal trip to Westminster. He will drive in an ordinary limousine to open the momentous meeting. There will not be a single soldier along the route from Buckingham Palace by Birdcage Walk and Parliament Square to the entrance of the house of lords.

Usually, on such occasions, every foot of the route is lined with troops. The honor of maintaining order goes entirely to the blue-coated bobbies of the metropolitan police force.

There has been much speculation in conference circles about the length of the necessary routine to wind up the business.

Premier Tardieu is reported to think that the conference will mark time for the first ten or twelve days, but that afterward the general progress will be rapid. He is not one of those who feel the conference may last for three months. He hopes for results within a much shorter period.

The French premier expects to meet Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy tomorrow afternoon, when it seems likely there will be an exchange of views on Franco-Italian problems, and perhaps also on the possibility of negotiating a general Mediterranean pact of non-aggression and mutual guarantees.

3 INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Lawrence Bourdelaies' Car Is Wrecked Near Terrace Gardens

Lawrence Bourdelaies, proprietor of the Club Cafe, was seriously injured when the Jewett coach, which he was driving, skidded off the highway near Terrace Gardens at 6 o'clock last night and was demolished His companions, Frank J. Rubens, 1008 Ninth avenue south, and Tom Harriman, Ford River road, received minor bruises.

Bourdelaies was taken to the St. Francis hospital, where an x-ray examination will be made today to determine the extent of his injuries. It is believed he suffered serious internal injuries.

The top of the coach was torn off, and damage was done to other parts of the car. A motorist, who passed by, extricated the men from the wreckage and took them into Escanaba. It was reported last night that a dog, owned by Bourdelaies, which was riding in the automobile, escaped injury and ran hot-foot for home after the accident.

Test For Scarlet Fever Being Given To School Pupils

Work in administering the Dick test for scarlet fever to pupils in the schools of the city was started yesterday by Dr. H. J. Defnet, city health officer, and will continue until every pupil in the city has been treated.

The Dick test indicates whether or not the subject has been exposed to the disease. Within twenty-four hours after the test has been administered, a red mark will appear on the spot where the secretion has been injected, if the subject is in danger of contracting the disease. However, if the subject is immune from the fever, there will be no reaction to the test applied.

In all cases where the test has proven that pupils are in danger of contracting the disease, or have already been exposed to the disease, toxin-antitoxin treatments will be administered by Dr. Defnet. In cases where there has been no reaction to the Dick test, the pupils will not be subjected to the vaccine treatment.

Many cases of scarlet fever have been reported here recently and the city health board has taken this step to prevent a serious epidemic of the disease. The work will continue for about two months.

FOX SUED FOR STOCK FRAUD

his own name and in those of his wife and relatives and that in connection with them he employed funds of the corporation.

From July until November, she asserted, he devoted practically all of his time to the market, neglecting the Fox Film and allied companies, and when the market slump came the accounts sustained "gigantic losses." The funds were used without the "authority or due legal action of the board of directors' of either the Fox Film or Fox Theatres corporation, she said.

"In that manner," the complaint alleged, "the said William Fox has foisted upon the corporation a loss of many hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Mrs. Kuser further charged that Fox contracted to purchase English properties for twenty-five times their yearly earnings, without any personal investigation and relying solely on the seller's representations. Also she alleged, 440,000 shares Loew's Inc., were purchased at $125 when the stock was selling on the open market at $70—an overpayment of $25,000,000.

In November, 1927, Mrs. Kuser's complaint continued through the action of "dummy and rubber stamp directors," Fox was voted an annual salary of $150,000 by Fox Theatres corporation. His salary in the case of the Fox Film corporation was declared to be "the same amount as was received by one Zukor, the president of the Paramount Pictures corporation—$200,000.

The petition cited the report of accountants who prepared an audit of the Fox Film corporation which showed quick assets of $6,806,000, current liabilities of $12,699,000, additional liabilities of $52,297,000 and conotingent obligations of $18,000,000. The complaint also alleged on information and belief that there are outstanding liabilities of $50,000,000 maturing next April as to which no provision for payment has been made.

Mrs. Kuser asks a permanent equity receiver and an injunction to restrain the corporation from employing any funds for the payment of Fox's salary.

POLICE SCHOOLS

RECOMMENDATIONS have been made to the state crime commission by a special committee of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, of which Chief of Police John J. Tolan of Escanaba is a member, that a system of training schools for peace officers be established in the state.

This plan, if carried out, will be without a doubt one of the most forward steps in police administration taken in some time. The duties of the police in this modern age have become numerous and complex. Crime suppression still remains a primary police function, but supervision of traffic and the performance of many other services the public has come to demand in recent years are making the police officer an important figure in community life.

Lawyers, doctors and engineers must, of necessity, obtain years of college training before engaging in their chosen professions. Police work is just as important, and it follows that intensive training is needed in preparation for it. Already, men with college educations have been engaged for executive positions in police departments, indicating that the standards of police work are being raised.

Old-time methods are passing out. More emphasis is being placed on brains, than brawn, in the selection of policemen. The crook of today, armed with machine guns and other inventions of science and oftentimes made bold by use of "dope," must be outwitted by brains and courage.

The special committee, which investigated the feasibility of police training schools and recommended their establishment recently, was appointed by Chief of Police C. J. Scavarda, Flint, president of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police. The training school plan was the principal topic of discussion at the association's convention in Escanaba last August.

A six-week training course would be given prospective policemen and those already in the service, according to the recommended plan. All phases of police administration would be studied, including such subjects as civics, ethics of the police profession, first aid, sex crimes, criminal investigation, autopsy and identification of the dead, automobile thefts and automobile identification, safety and safety patrols, narcotics, uniformity in traffic enforcement, federal laws, rules of evidence, confessions and statements, health laws, pistol markmanship, use of fingerprints, general criminal laws, municipal ordinances, federal court procedure, handling of mobs and riots, rights of citizens, extent of police authority, and courtesy in performance of duty.

The committee proposed that the system should embrace a central training school at East Lansing, six zone schools located at Marquette, Traverse City, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint and Detroit, and a continuation school. The central school will hold four or five sessions during the year, and when it is not in session at East Lansing, the faculty will hold a session of a zone school in one of the six zones in the state.

The reason for the establishment of the zone schools was that the committee felt that it would prove too expensive for some municipalities to send their policemen to the Central training school at East Lansing. Upper Peninsula policemen would have the opportunity of attending the zone school at Marquette.

It was recommended that provisions should be made for instructors to visit police departments or zones at certain intervals for the purpose of giving advanced instructions to police officers, thereby keeping them informed of current legal decisions, new laws and other new developments in police work. This would be known as the continuation school course for officers who have taken the preliminary training. A director would be appointed by the state crime commission to supervise the school activities throughout the state, according to the plan.

Sometimes a swelled head is caused by shrinking brains.

MAKING HENS PAY.

DELTA county farmers can derive much inspiration and practical advice concerning the successful operation of a poultry business from the experiences of Frank Barron, well known Flat Rock farmer.

The hen coop is only one of the several departments on the Barron farm for Frank also goes in for dairying, truck gardening and general farming. On the poultry end alone during the last year, he realized a net profit of $1,145.45 on the sale of eggs produced by 232 hens.

Besides keeping chickens, Frank also keeps systematic records. He cooperated with the agricultural extension department of Michigan State College by entering his flock in the demonstration project supervised by L. R. Arnold, upper peninsula poultry specialist. In cooperating with this project, Barron kept account of the cost of feed, the number of eggs each hen layed, the price the eggs sold for during the various periods, and other necessary data. During the year, the Barron flock averaged 214.3 eggs per hen, placing fourth highest in production among all the demonstration flocks in the upper peninsula.

The 49,817 eggs produced on the Barron farm brought the owner $1,709.35, which netted $1,145.45 when the $563.90 expended for feed was deducted. During a peak month, he made a net profit of $250 on his flock.

This all goes to prove that money can be made on a properly managed farm. Barron started off right by securing pedigreed White Leghorns that had high production records. He carefully watched their feeding, provided healthful quarters for the birds and by keeping a systematic record of their laying was able to detect the poor layers, which were disposed of to the meat trade.

Knowledge and experience are important factors of successful poultry raising. Business ability and tenacity of purpose are also prime requisites. Perseverance is essential because results are often slow, and at times disappointing, and only those who are prepared to wait patiently for success can hope to succeed.

All the knocks aren't in the engine; some of 'em come from the back seat.

AN ALL-AROUND BUNCO GAME

SENATOR CARAWAY'S blast against the tribe of lobbyists is, we believe, largely justified.

The senator isn't complaining so much about the influence the lobbyists have on legislation. In fact, his complaint centers partly on the fact that they don't influence it at all. What he is protesting about is the way these slick gentlemen persuade big industrialists to fee them heavily for exerting a "pull" that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred is wholly imaginary.

They represent themselves as able to get special favors in Washington, and are given fat retainers on that basis. They get no favors, however, and the organizations that are paying them might just as well keep their money.

That doesn't worry Senator Caraway greatly. What he objects to is the way in which all of this business creates public suspicion. People take the words of the lobbyists at face value and assume that our government is crooked from top to bottom. Business gets gypped, the government gets a black eye—and the only gainer is the lobbyist, pocketing his fee.

Job had his trials, of course, but in those days sopranos couldn't broadcast.

A JURY IN THREE HOURS.

IN NEW JERSEY another of those "sensational" murder trials opens; and the unusual feature of the first day's procedure was the fact that the jury was selected and sworn in in only three hours.

Usually in a big murder trial it takes anywhere from a day to a week to get a jury, under our archaic American court procedure. We're all familiar with the process; the endless, fatiguing delay that it involves is so common, in fact, that when a jury happens to be chosen promptly we're deeply surprised.

There is no real reason, however, why three hours time wouldn't be sufficient to select a jury in any criminal case. That it so seldom is simply proves that our court procedure is in great need of revision.

CHAPTER XIV

"Mickey" Mortimer, in the annals, of the family and on membership lists of half a dozen impressive clubs, was Frederick K. Mortimer, but even his mother had long since ceased to call him anything but "Mickey."

He belonged to the Philadelphia Mortimers—which is to say he "belonged."

The bank of which Mickey Mortimer's father was a director was not among the country's 10 largest and yet it was not so far down the list. The son had not inherited his father's zeal for economics.

Mickey found the warm and sunny sands of Italian water resorts much more agreeable during the winter months than anything he had ever observed on Wall Street. He also found polo on Long Island a good deal pleasanter in July than trying to sell bonds. Mickey's income was steady. He was a vice president of something or other (really two somethings-or-other) but if he could have told you the name of either it would have been quite remarkable. He was as careless about business affairs as he was about the lady who happened to be his wife.

Mickey had a daughter, too, an attractive youngster wtih yellow curls, photographed occasionally with other children at a society fair at Newport or digging in the beach at Miami. These photographs generally appeared in the Sunday newspaper gravure sections. Whenever he saw one of these pictures Mickey looked at it and wondered how the kid was getting along.

The child lived with her mother. Mrs. Mickey Mortimer had had a rather good part in a musical comedy playing 18 months on Broadway before she and young Mortimer had gone down to City Hall to be married there by an official. That had been four years earlier. Mrs. Mickey Mortimer was very beautiful. It is significant that in family tribunals the Philadelphia Mortimers sided with her instead of her husband.

Mickey didn't spend much time in New York. When he was there he sometimes called around to see his wife. Sometimes not. Mickey, who above all things sought pleasure, loathed "scenes."

It was in Mickey Mortimer's swagger green coupe that Tony Knight was riding the first evening after her arrival in New York. It was Mickey himself who was driving the car and who vetoed her suggestion to visit the Casino.

They couldn't go there, he said, because Florence was likely to be there and Florence (as Tony very well knew) was his wife.

Mickey and Tony had met at Madrid. Later, after Tony and her aunt had returned to Paris, Mickey came after them. He had to have playfellows, a very great number of them, did Mickey Mortimer. Tony Knight, as Mickey himself expressed it, was a "devilish enticin' little trick."

The girl was quite captivated by his airs and his ardor. She began to make excuses and avoid engagements with Count Bodanzky.

Tony's Aunt Helena disapproved of this and very shortly Tony and her Aunt Helena disapproved of each other. They did it in such loud tones and for such a long while that the girl cabled her father, sent off her trunks and caught the first boat for New York.

Mickey Mortimer was on the same boat.

It was Mortimer's custom, when his companion was a very pretty girl and after about the fifth cocktail, to state that he was "divorcing his wife." It was a good beginning for the long story of how fate was abusing him. Sometimes this story would become so pathetic that only music would drown his sadness. That meant that Mickey would start singing, and when Mickey sang there simply was no likelihood at all of guessing where that party would end.

The truth was he was not and could not divorce his wife. Neither was Mrs. Mortimer divorcing her husband.

Mickey didn't mind. He had found that a good looking young man of wealth never need face any dearth of feminine companions.

He and Tony visited a blase theatrical revue that evening, dined at a supper club which was not one of Florence Mortimer's favorites, danced at two others and shortly after four a. m. arrived at the Knight residence. Tony entered the house with her own latchkey and Mortimer drove away.

At 11 o'clock next morning Judith sent Harriet to see if Miss Tony would like to have her breakfast. The maid reported Miss Tony was still asleep.

At 12 Tony came downstairs languidly. She wore a lounging suit again, this one of poppy colored stiff silk, very boyish looking. She ignored Judith but told Mrs. Wheeler she would like breakfast sent to her room.

Thus for three days the routine of the Knight household remained. Judith and Arthur breakfasted in the dining room at eight o'clock. Judith conferred with Mrs. Wheeler and Cora devoted herself to housewifely tasks during the morning. Tony arose at noon and called for a breakfast tray to be sent to her room. Each afternoon she left the house, returning about five o'clock. At seven Arthur and Judith and Tony dined together, and by nine o'clock Tony had sought companions of her own.

It was a state of armed neutrality. Judith, hoping each day for some slight weakening toward friendliness, had to content herself with an occasional civil remark during dinner.

Tony's reasoning seemed to be that if she could not rid the house of her stepmother she could at least pretend that Judith was not there.

It wasn't a cheering atmosphere in which to prepare for Christmas.

And yet the holiday season was about to begin. It was a time that Arthur Knight had been looking forward all year to—the time when both his children would be home.

Judith felt that she was the one who should find some means of slipping out of the scene.

She bought huge holly wreaths with gay red ribbons, candles, poinsettia plants and greens to make the house festive. She ordered a tree which was as high and handsome as Arthur had specified. She busied herself on shopping trips and conspired with Cora on what they both hoped would be masterly menus.

Determinedly cheerful, Judith reported to Arthur each night that affairs were "going splendidly."

Then on Saturday morning Arthur Junior arrived.

Judith had been out on an errand. She saw a cab stop in front of the house and a slim youth step out. The boy had just reached the entrance of the house and was about to open the door when he saw her turning in at the walk.

He stopped and waited until she reached the steps. Then he looked at her seriously and said:

"Are you—Judith?"

"Yes," the girl said eagerly. "And I'm sure you're Arthur. I'm so glad you've come home! We've been expecting you but I didn't know you'd arrive until afternoon. Your father will be so pleased."

She was delighted to think that he had recognized her and spoken, and so her words rushed on, trying to let the boy know she was grateful, not feeling exactly sure she was saying the right thing.

Judith would never have guessed that this was Arthur Knight's son.

He was taller than she was, built slightly but with the promise that years would "fill him out." The boy had gray eyes which had studied Judith ever since he had first seen her. He wore a gray suit and overcoat and a cap which emphasized the boyish look about him. Hair which was light brown and curly showed beneath the cap.

Judith felt that she had been saying too much. She blushed.

"Do let's go in," she finished. "It's cold and I'm keeping you out here freezing."

The lad held the door back politely and Judith entered. Harriet appeared and took the wraps. All the while Arthur Junior's manner was the acme of courtesy and yet it was disturbing.

He was so formal. Without a word or sign which the girl could actually define he had erected a barrier about her. He was standing off and observing.

"Your father will be home for lunch in an hour or so," Judith told him. "I think he'd be pleased if you would telephone him."

"I did," said the boy, "from the station. My sister—is she here?"

Depression which she could not shake off descended on Judith. She wanted to cry out, "Why do you treat me this way? What have I done? What's the matter with me?"

The boy's solemn, distrustful eyes on her were worse than Tony's harangue.

"Your sister is upstairs, I presume," she answered. "She usually sleeps rather late. She may be up now, though."

"I'll run up for a minute," Junior said. He paused. "Do I—have the same room?" he asked diffidently.

"Yes," Judith said and thanked providence that interview was over. The coming of Arthur Junior frightened her. The forces of the enemy were strengthening.

Arthur Knight reached home shortly after noon and he and his children and Judith had lunch together. After the meal Judith did what she felt the only decent thing to do. She excused herself, pleading a highly important shopping trip, and left the Knight family tog her.

The shopping was by no means fictitious. Judith Knight took a 20-minute train ride into the city. She hunted a long while for just the right little shop on Madison avenue and after she had found it spent an even longer time before she selected a small black leather box. A drab prison, it was to hold such gleaming contents.

Judith took the package which the clerk wrapped for her and carried it to a desk. She picked up pen and ink and painstakingly inscribed upon it a name and address.

Then, carrying her purchase, she went out of the shop and stopped before a mail box. Before she deposited the parcel she read the address through carefully, lifted the box to her lips and pressed upon it a swift kiss.

When Judith turned away there were tears in her eyes.

State Conservation Department Defines Winter Fishing Law

The 1929 Inland Fishing Law permitting winter spearing through the ice applies only to inland lakes and does not apply to streams, according to the Conservation Department answering numerous inquiries from fishermen.

The new law permits any Michigan resident to spear pickerel, grass and great northern pike, suckers, mullet and redhorse, in any inland lake during the period when these lakes are frozen over. The catch limit for one day for pike and for pickerel is five of not less than 14 inches in length.

The only spearing permitted in non-trout streams is during April and May when all non-game fish, principally catfish bullheads, suckers, mullet, redhorse, carp, garfish, dog-fish and sheephead, may be speared in non-trout streams. Great northern pike and pickerel may be speared only during the month of May in non-trout streams. Pike-perch, commonly called wall-eyed pike, cannot be speared at any time in inland waters.

A LITTLE HAVIN'

My year's got more than just one Thanksgivin';
I guess I've solved it, this thing called livin'.
The rest go by in a powerful hurry,
I kind of doubt if it's worth the worry.
Though bigger things they are after, maybe,
Though all I've got is a wife and baby,
A shack, a mule, and the well know tater,
I wouldn't trade with a lot iots greater.

I thank the Lord what the Lord's allowed me.
I've got my work, but my work don't crowd me.
There's fields to plow, and there's weeds for fightin',
But they both kin wait if the fish are bitin'.
If things ain't done, then I seldom sorrow;
If I can't today then I kin tomorrow.
And some folks scold, and a few git witty,
But it seems to me that I'm settin' pritty.

I've got a place by a rollin' river,
A pile of wood so I don't need shiver,
A cat that purrs, and some dogs that caper,
Some magazines and a daily paper,
A one-tube set, where I like to listen,
A dandy car, when the thing aint missin',
Some simple grub, but a heapin' plateful—
What man needs more for to make him grateful?

Ain't got much cash, maybe ten or twenty,
If it's only five, then a five is plenty,
But I've got a kid, and a darned good woman—
And a man who'd kick, well, he just ain't human.
I don't just know what you work all day for,
But, brother, here is the thing to pray for:
A little workin', a little fishin',
A little havin', and not much wishin'.

"Amusement Stocks Active" says a headline on the market page. We had almost forgotten there were amusement stocks listed in Wall Street.

BAPTISTS WILL HOLD MEETING AT ESCANABA

Session Scheduled for Wednesday at Church.

One of a series of mid-year meetings in the Marquette Association of the Northern Baptist convention will be held at the Baptist church in Escanaba on Wednesday, according to word from the Rev. T. E. Mack, Iron Mountain, who will be in charge of the session. Other cities where similar meetings are being held include: Kingsford, Sault Ste. Marie, Marquette and Manistique.

Weather conditions caused the abandonment of plans to hold a central association meeting, and instead the group of speakers are traveling to visit each of the churches. The program theme is "A Christ-like World," and the session at Escanaba Wednesday will open at 7 p. m., with the principal speaker, the Rev. J. C. Cooper, of New York.

The following program has been outlined:

1:00 p. m.—Devotional. "The Christian for a Christ-like World"—Rev. Drury Martin, Lansing.

1:30 p. m.—Address, "Making a Christ-like World"—Rev. J. C. Cooper, New York City.

2:15 p. m.—Forum. "Responsibility for a Christ-like World"—Under direction of team leader.

3:00 p. m.—Missionary address—Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Detroit.

5:30 p. m.—Dinner hour.

7:00—Devotional. "The Cost of a Christ-like World"—Rev. Drury Martin.

7:30 p. m.—Missionary address—Mrs. Thomas Taylor.

8:15 p. m.—Address—Rev. J. C. Cooper.

There will be congregational singing and special song numbers at both the afternoon and evening meetings.

The Rev. Cooper, member of the field staff of the Northern Baptist convention, was born in Kansas City, Mo. He received his A. B. degree at the University of Missouri in 1911 and his degree of A. M. at the University of Chicago. He was also a student of the William Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., and the Rochester Theological Seminary in New York state.

In 1912 the Rev. Cooper was ordained to the ministry and served as superintendent of missions for North Liberty Baptist Association from 1914 to 1915. Duding the war he served as chaplain with the rank of captain and was decorated with the Croix de Guerre for bravery in action. He became pastor of the Baptist church at Paris, Mo., in 1920 and since then has been the principal speaker on various lyceum programs.

The Rev. Cooper will bring an interesting message to the meeting here.

Pleads Guilty to Forgery; Grocery Store Is Victim

As a result of a check claimed to have been cashed by him at the Robert Cass grocery, 1512 Ludington street, some time last April, William Zoellner, 48, a former local woodsman, has been bound over to circuit court on a charge of forgery.

He was orrested by the Escanaba police Sunday. Arraigned Monday before Justice H. E. Ranguette, he pleaded guilty, and was placed under $2,000 bonds. This he was unable to furnish, and he will remain at the county jail until the time for his appearance in circuit court.

According to information supplied to local police, Zoellner presented a check for $20.10 signed with another man's name, and was given the money at the local store. Records show that Zoellner has had previous convictions in local courts.

Assessors List All Physicians in Delta County

Under a provision of the Michigan Medical Practice Act, now being enforced, it is required that the assessing officer in each district shall file with the county clerk the name, age and residence of every doctor practicing in his district. The county clerk, in turn, is required to send a complete report for his county to the State Board of Registration in medicine.

R. H. Labre, Delta county clerk, has notified all assessing officers in the county of their duties under this act, and several have responded. Reports are coming in slowly, however, and the clerk is hoping that the remaining assessors will respond so that his report for the state board may be completed.

Rights Of Trial By Jury Subject Of E. H. S. Debate

"Do you believe that the right of trial by jury should be taken away from you?"

Escanaba high school debaters will supply the negative answer to this query Friday evening at the high school auditorium, when they match arguments with the invading forensic teom from Menominee high school. If Escanaba's arguments are sufficiently forceful and convincing to win the judge's decision, the local debate squad will automatically qualify for further participation in the state-wide elimination series. This will be the lost event in what is known as the "preliminary" series for the high school debaters.

As far as records go, Menominee will come here with a slight advantage. In their three engagements so far they have had no defeats, having scored decisions over Iron River, Iron Mountain and Gladstone. Esconaba has defeated Iron Mountain, won from the Soo, and lost to Manistique.

Students are boosting for the coming event Friday evening, and are working to stimulate interest in the timely question. The debate Friday is scheduled for 8 p. m. Prof. G. C. Meyland, Northern State Teachers College, Marquette, will be the judge.

Nearly 3,000,000 American-made flash lights will be exported from the United States this year.

Suffered From Stomach Trouble For Five Years—Then Found New Health.

MR. WILLIAM ROBERTSON.

"I think this new medicine, Konjola, is without a doubt the greatest medicine in the world," said Mr. William Robertson, 114 Court street, Saginaw. "I tried medicine after medicine in my search for relief from stomach trouble that made my life miserable for five years. The pain in my stomach was terrible. Even a strict diet did no good. Constipation also bothered me. I became very nervous and despondent.

"I started taking Konjola more to please my friends than with any hope that it would help me. But I got the surprise of my life! Now my stomach is in such good shape that I can practically eat anything. My bowels have been regulated. Five bottles of Konjola have restored my health, and I am working every day at my trade, that of a pattern maker in the foundry."

Konjola is sold in Escanaba at People's Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

"The worst cough I ever had—stopped OVERNIGHT"

"I don't remember ever having coughed so often as that morning I was caught in a snow storm—six miles from nowhere. By the time I got home I was sure I was in for a long indoor spell. Days taken away from my business—a pleasant prospect! No such thing happened—thanks to Smith Brothers'. I took the syrup faithfully and when I awoke the next morning my cough had completely quieted down." FRANK MULLEN

Be moderate AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Fashion revels in the soft, enchanting curves of the modern figure. Don't sacrifice that graceful contour by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When tempted to treat yourself too well, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the modern, alluringly-rounded figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

A couple of leatherneck Don Juans! That's a trite way to characterize Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen as "Sergeant Quirt" and "Top Sergeant Flagg" in the Fox Movietone all talking production "The Cock Eyed World," directed by Raoul Walsh and opening today at the Delft Theatre for a three day run.

Based on a story written by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson, who co-authored the unforgettable "What Price Glory," Lowe and McLaglen are still in the marines, though it is peace time, but plenty of fighting in the tropics—and between themselves.

Pals, buddies, brothers, everything is great until one falls for a "femme." Then each claims priority and the innocent cause of the trouble must stand by while they tell each other aplenty.

Of their many love affairs, three stick out prominently; one is the tropics with the gorgeous Lily Damita, another in cold Russia with fascinating Lelia Karnelly, and the third at Coney Island with a real, flip American girl, Jean Bary.

Around these scorching love affairs are incidents of a most human nature, with pathos, tears, smiles, romance and thrills.

In addition to the five featured players mentioned, the supporting cast is one of first rank when one recalls the fame of El Brendel, Swede comic of vaudeville and musical comedy; Bobby Burns as "Conners"; Ivan Linow, former heavyweight wrestler known to fame as "The Russian Lion"; and Solidad Jiminez, Spanish character actress of "In Old Arizona.

AT THE STRAND.

Myrtle Stedman who was for many years one of the leading screen stars will be seen in one of the roles in the Tiffany-Stahl production "Their Hour" which will be the feature picture at the Strand theatre today. Miss Stedman entered the movies when they were still in their infancy and soon she was one of the most popular of screen artists. Lately she has appeared in many leading productions. The cast of "Their Hour" includes Dorothy Sebastian, John Harron, June Marlowe, Huntly Gordon, Holmes Hebert, John Roche and John Stepping.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN.

In 1904, three cases of psittacosis or "Parrot Disease" were reported in Boston. Last fall an out-break of this disease was reported in Buenos Aires and more outbreaks have recently been reported in the United States.

In Hamburg, Germany, 28 cases with five deaths occurred last fall. In the epidemic of psittacosis which occurred in Paris in 1892, there were 49 cases and 16 deaths and it was reported that the infection had been caused by parrots brought from South America.

When psittacosis occurs, it begins with a chill and fever with a good deal of weakness and depression and usually some inflammation of the lungs. The extent of the inflammation of the lungs determines whether or not the patient lives.

When the records of a considerable number of cases are assembled, it is found that from 30 to 40 per cent of the patients die. When the disease was first described in Paris, a germ was isolated from the parrots and it was found to be of the type of the same family as the typhoid germ. The germ is now called bacillus psittacosis.

"Parrot disease" is essentially a medical curiosity and need occasion little alarm among the people of the United States. The symptoms resemble those of other infectious diseases and one should be certain that the disease is actually psittacosis and not pneumonia or other infections of the lungs.

Obviously, the first step is to get the suspected parrot and to find out whether or not he contains the germs which are responsible.

The occurrence of such cases in the United States is new evidence of the fact that methods of transportation, exchange of products among various nations, and the complete abolishing of boundary lines between peoples makes it impossible any longer for a nation to be isolated. The disease of one people will sooner or later appear among others.

For the first time in history the death rate in Jamaica has just dropped to below 20 a thousand.

Y. Women's Guild Meeting Tonight

The Young Women's Guild of the Presbyterian church will meet this evening at the home of Mrs Leon Nicholson, Range street. Mrs. William Cook will assist the hostess. All members come prepared to sew.

She will also give readings from some of the contemporary plays among which are: "Street Scene," the Pulitzer prize play of last year, "The First Year," and one by O'Neill.

Lady Maccabees To Install Officers

The Lady Maccabees will hold installation of officers tonight in the Odd Fellow's hall at 8 o'clock. A potluck lunch will be served following the business session. All members are urged to be present.

CORRECTION

In publishing the recent Marks-Williams nuptials the Press made an erroneous statement. It should have read that Mr. Williams was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Williams, Barton City, Mich., and the wedding dinner was held at the home of the bride's parents instead of the Norman Carr home.

GERO

"Flight," the Columbia all-talking aviation sensation coming to the Gero theatre today was made with the cooperation of government officials in Washington. Captain Frances E. Pierce of the United States Marine Corps was detailed to supervise war scenes on the production. Colonel Harry Lay, temporarily in charge of the marine base at San Diego, was also actively engaged in the direction of the battle sequences.

In commenting on the work done in San Diego, army officials have stated that the machine gun firing, the aerial action and the maneuvers of the soldiers are true to actual warfare. All the machine guns and other artillery were copied from what was used in the recent Mexican rebellion, and the planes are accurate duplicates of those used in the government marine base.

Before a single scene had been made, a crew of technical men under the supervision of United States marine officers were sent to San Diego to prepare the battle ground. The fort used by the marines in the picture is an exact duplicate of the one that played an important part in the Mexican revolution.

Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Director Frank R. Capra, the triumviate that made "Submarine", the talk of the nation, were reunited for this production.

1,000 Teams Are Entered In A. B. C. Event At Cleveland

Cleveland—With 1,000 five-man team entries from various out-of-town teams on file with Secretary A. L. Langtry now and with 1,000 local quintets guaranteed by the Cleveland Tournament association all indications point to this city being on the border line of, if not breaking an entry record for the American Bowling Congress annual international classic here, opening date of which is March 1.

But two weeks remain in which teams may make their entry, the closing hour being midnight, February 1. Local officials are confident that more than 500 teams will be added in the next few days and thus shoot the grand total entry above the record of 2,523 established at Chicago last year.

This will bring 12,000 pinsters into action and, as usual, make the international bowling meet the biggest athletic event in the world in point of active participants. These 12,000 will vie for a division of a cash prize fund of better than $100,000.

This amount is divided between four event—the five-man, doubles, singles and all-events. The three former respresent real activity on the drives while the all-events is reckoned from the nine-game total secured by a pinster in the three events.

Champions will gain rich prizes for it is announced that the team winners will split $1,000 beside receiving individual diamond medals. The two-men winners will get $500 with diamond medals, and the individual champion will draw down $300 and diamond medal. A diamond medal and $200 cash also is provided for the all-events champion.

Because of the exceptional entry of out-of-town teams at such an early date those teams desiring late mid-week dates must hurry their entry as reservations for Thursdays and Fridays are almost filled.

All entries from points outside of Cleveland must be made with Secretary A. L. Langtry, 187 Second street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Nearly 35,000 letters recently left London in an air mail plane bound for India.

"DYNAMITE" OPENS HERE ON WEDNESDAY

"Dynamite," Cecil B. De Mille's fifty-fifth production, marks a return for the producer to the exotic luxurious sets and gowns which made his reputation in such pictures as "Manslaughter," "Male and Female," and "Why Change Your Wife?" The new picture will play at the Rialto theatre starting Wednesday.

After the costumes and differing customs of "The Volga Boatman," "King of Kings," and "The Ten Commandments," De Mille comes back to the bathroom, boudoirs, smart women and clever men in his newest story from the pen of Jeanie MacPherson.

"Dynamite," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talking picture, abounds with entertaining situations. Its central sequence is a marriage of a society girl to a coal miner on the eve of the latter's execution for murder. It swings from the hectic gaiety drama in the depths of a coal mine. Its race of ten pretty girls in the foreign novelty, aero-wheels, is said to be one of the most striking sequences ever put into a motion picture. Ten of Hollywood's prettiest roll head-over-heels in the huge hoops to which their feet are fastened. Not the least interesting feature of this particular sequence is that it is the first scene ever taken where characters talk upside down!

Total sales 1,692,640 shares.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The stock market began the new week with a relapse into speculative apathy. Price trends were shifting and indefinite, and represented little more than the shifting of accounts of professionals scalping for a point or two. Sales totaled 1,692,640 shares, only moderately above the turnover for Saturday's abbreviated session.

Business news was mixed and manifestly not of sufficient moment to carry the market out of the doldrums. It had its favorable aspects, nevertheless. The Chevrolet division of General Motors announced that dealer demand had caused a revision upward of production schedules. Building contracts let during the past week showed moderate expansion.

The market was subjected to rather sharp bear pressure during the first hour, rallied moderately before midday, and wore a ragged aspect until the last half hour, when prices firmed up under the influence of short covering. Net changes at the close were largely narrow.

Credit remained easy, with call loans again renewing at 4½ per cent, and the rate later dropping to 4. The stock exchange's compilation showing the ratio of member borrowings to the market value of listed shares was issued after the close, showing a decline of only 0.16 per cent to 6.16 per cent. The backing and filling nature of the market during December was reflected in the fact that the average price per listed share rose only 46 cents to $57.38, as of January 2.

Amusement Shares Low

Amusement shares, with the notable exception of Fox Film which sagged close to its low, were sent upward by bulls endeavoring to get a public following on the theory that the industry is depression proof.

Commodities largely moved in narrow ranges, wheat futures lost about ½ cents on reports of good weather and disappointing foreign demand, but regained most of the loss. Corn sagged a little, reflecting increased stocks at Kansas City, and large receipts. Cotton closed practically unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were dull and fairly steady, with the exception of the Spanish peseta, which had another sinking spell. The Brazilian milreis was unchanged, although a shipment of gold to New York was rumored.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—

Stocks, irregular; tobaccos rally on favorable rumors.

Curb, easy; Electric Bond and Share firm.

Foreign Exchanges, mixed; Spanish peseta drops 1-6 of a cent.

Cotton, easy; light southern selling.

Sugar, steady; trade buying.

Coffee, higher; steady Brazilian markets.

CHICAGO:

Wheat, easy; disappointing export demand.

Corn, easy; increased stocks and larger receipts.

Cattle, irregular.

Hogs, higher.

State of Michigan Will Get $11,650.53 From National Fund

Michigan will receive $11,650.53 during the year 1930 for the construction of woods roads and trails and for the benefit of the public schools, from federal forest service funds, according to information received by the Department of Conservation.

The state will receive $1,685.38 as its share of forest yield crop receipts. This represents two percent of all forest receipts, and is to be expended for the benefit of public schools and public roads in counties in which national forests exist. The Huron Forest in the lower peninsula will receive $675.67. An additional $674.15 will be available to be spent for building roads and trails along national forest boundaries.

A total of $7,030 has been apportioned for expenditure by the Department of Agriculture for use on highway projects beginning July 1, 1930. An additional apportionment of $2,181 has been made for development of roads and trails inside the national forest boundaries.

Timber sale receipts from national forests in Michigan during the past year amounted to $6,311.52.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Prices of listed bonds drifted aimlessly today in one of the quietest sessions of the month. The dullness was taken as a normal consequence of the heavy new financing, which is still in process of absorption.

Money was plentiful and some business was done in 30-day loans at 4¼ per cent, the lowest in about a year. The renewal figure on call funds was 4½ per cent but the charge dropped to 4 early in the afternoon when outside money was quoted at 3½.

Domestic Issues Firm

Domestic issues of high rating held firm, but there was signs of heaviness in the lower priced bonds, particularly industrials. Rails and utilities showed little change. The European government group and several of the South Americans advanced.

It was the dullest day in weeks for the securities of the United States. No transactions were recorded in the Treasury certificates, a most unusual occurance, and only a handful of the Liberties changed hands.

Utility Bonds Hold Up

The grade rails were firm. Telephone and light and power company bonds held up well. Most of the consequential fluctuations in the industrials appeared in the lower priced bonds, including the foreign sugars. The dullness of stocks caused convertibles to trade apathetically.

Recent reports that United States Steel planned the immediate redemption of the smaller bond issues of subsidiaries met with contraction today. Although it is regarded as probable that most of this indebtedness will be retired eventually, it was said that no such steps were contemplated in the near future.

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The daily average production of crude oil in California during December was 700,179 barrels, the American Petroleum Institute reports, compared with 710,585 barrels in November. Stocks covering all products held by the principal marketing companies in the Pacific coast territory, including British, totaled 184,002,116 barrels, an increase of 253,666 barrels during the month.

Directors of Blaunder's Philadelphia Clothing Store, today declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock, placing it on a $2 annual basis, as against $1.20 paid previously.

The Bank of the Republic, central bank of Colombia, has shipped $1,046,279 in gold bars to the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., due here January 30. Last fall the same bank shipped $3,000,000 in gold here.

The Capital Administrtion Co., Ltd., an investment trust, which started business November 2, 1928, reports net assets as of December 31 at $11,509,805, a decrease of 5.01 per cent from the paid in capital. Assets, of which 25.16 per cent was in cash, call loans, and short term loans, were equal to $2,302 per $1,000 debenture, and after deducting outstanding debentures, to $108.50 per share of preferred stock, and, after deducting both debentures and preferred, to $23.13 per class A share.

WARDENS SET NEW RECORD IN NOVEMBER

691 Violators of Conservation Laws Nabbed.

The greatest record for enforcement work in protecting Michigan's conservation laws, in its history, was attained by the Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Conservation during the month of November, according to figures contained in a report of its activities for that period.

During November, Conservation law violators paid $19,199.43 into the county library fund in fines and court costs and during the same period served a total of 1,120 days in jail. The total number of offenders, most of them against game laws, was 691. During the previous month, which created a record up to that time, there were 603 violators who paid aggregate fines and costs of $17,349.95.

The fact that the deer season was open in November and that the muskrat season was in full swing, accounted for the large number of game law violators. Special efforts of conservation officers in forcing 70,000 deer hunters to live up to all of the regulations caused an unusual number of arrests. Although this number was large, according to the Law Enforcement Division, it represents but the worst offenders. Large numbers of petty violators were given warnings and were not arrested and taken into court.

60 Deer Hunters Hit.

During November, 60 deer hunters were arrested, convicted and sentenced for carrying loaded fire arms in their automobiles. An additional 65 were punished for carrying loaded guns in deer territory before the opening of the deer season, November 15. Special attention given to protecting does and fawns resulted in the arrest and conviction of 20 hunters for killing does or for having does in their possession and 13 were convicted of killing fawns or having them in their possession. Forty deer hunters paid fines for hunting without licenses or with improper licenses. Several paid fines for not tagging their deer and other minor infractions of the deer hunting laws resulted in small fines.

Enforcement of the muskrat laws constituted much of the attention of the officers of the Division. In November, 39 trappers paid fines or served jail sentences for failing to attach the proper tags to their traps.

Penalties for this violation ranged from $10 to 30 days in jail.

Illegal Muskrat Trapping.

Illegal muskrat trappers, including those who trapped before and after open seasons, and those who trapped without licenses constituted the largest number of game law violators. Ninety such convictions were obtained in November. Nine trappers were convicted of trapping at muskrat houses and holes.

Continuing its campaign against beaver poaching, upper peninsula conservation officers obtained convictions of 15 men in November for trapping beaver or possessing beaver hides. This is the largest number of beaver poachers caught in any one month since the beaver season has been closed.

The biggest fine paid during the month was by a man in Dickinson county who paid $109.50 for interfering with the work of an officer.

Among the other convictions for game law violations obtained during November were: four for shipping furs without permits; two for possession of ferrets; catching undersize fish; hunting ducks with two guns; killing pheasants out of season and killing hen pheasants; killing blue jays and robins; killing fox and gray squirrels; shooting on game refuges and digging out rabbits.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 20—Frequent nervous changes today in wheat values here ended with something of a setback all around. Weakness of wheat prices at Winnipeg during much of the day had a bearish effect, as possibly pointing to likelihood that Canada might get a preference in North American export business. On the other hand, more or less buying took place as a result of assertions that the federal farm board would authorize its allied cooperative organizations to deal in wheat futures, if so desired.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1-8 to 3-8c a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1-8 at ½ to 3-8c down, oats ½ to 3-8c off, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 7 cents.

CURB IS DULL; MIXED PRICES

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Dull trading and mixed price movement again characterized today's Curb market. Most of the active issues pointed upward, but some rather large losses developed in some of the ordinarily inactive specialties.

Tampa Electric ran up nearly 4 points on rumors that a change in ownership was imminent. American & Foreign Power Warwants, Utilities Power & Light and American Superpower advanced 1 to 2½ points and Electric Bond & Share improved fractionally. Public Service of Northern Illinois broke 8 points to 210, duplicating last year's low price.

Except for a drop of 2½ points in Electric Shareholders Preferred and a gain of 1 point in Third National Investors, the investment trust and trading corporation issues showed only narrow fractional changes.

Club Aluminum rallied slightly on the announcement that the Jewel Tea company had signed a three year contract to manage its property. Federal Screw declined slightly in the fact of unofficial reports that 1929 earnings will approximate $6 a share.

Wolves Clever Attack Defeats Indiana, 45 to 26

MICHIGAN WINS FROM HOOSIERS

Beat Indiana 45-26 In Game Showing Reversal of Form

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Cleverness overcame power here tonight when Michigan defeated Indiana 45 to 26, in basketball. The game was a brilliant exhibition at times and a wild hurly-burly at others as the teams first played perfect basketball, and then lapsed and contributed fouls.

Michigan garnered twenty one points in the first half in which but one Michigan personal foul was called. They wearied of well doing in the second and gave Indiana a number of free throws.

Truskowski Stars

Truskowski for his shooting and Kanitz and Weiss for their floor work were the brilliant Michigan players, while Strickland was the scoring star of the visitors. Indiana topped Michigan by several inches but could not match the play of the home team.

Michigan's game in the first half was a revelation to the crowd which watched the uncertain work of the first twenty minutes against Illinois recently. The Wolverine cross plays were working perfectly and the players were sinking shots at almost every opportunity. Indiana also gave Veenker's men a large number of chances from charity lane.

Strickland placed the visitors in the lead at two and one half minutes with the first goal and repeated a minute later. He added a third before Veller raced down the side and under the basket for the last Indiana goal of the period. Captain Strickland sank the additional point on a technical foul called on Truskowski.

Kanitz Knocked Cold

Orwil matched Strickland's total from the floor in this period and added two on foul tosses while Kanitz tossed four foul points and one basket. He got two of the fouls just after he had been knocked cold in a collision with Blagrave, officials deciding the latter erred.

Michigan ended the first half in a half stall but Indiana brought them up sharp at the beginning of the second session with eight points while Michigan was making one. Captain Chapman called time out and Michigan scored eleven points while the visitors were making one. Indiana was attempting long shots at the time and coming far down the floor as Michigan was holding the ball for an opening. Truck made eleven points in this period.

When Captain Chapman made his third foul, Ricketts, Daniels and Lovell were sent into the game and two of the substitutes scored the last points, Lovell making his basket as the gun cracked.

Wrestling Prospects Not So Good At MSC

East Lansing, Jan. 18—Prospects for a winning wrestling team at Michigan State college are none too bright this year. Coach Collins, in his first year as Spartan mat boss, believes that inexperience and lack of capable performers in two or three divisions will keep his team from attaining the rank of a regular winner.

After several weeks of work, Collins has sifted his material until he is now concentrating on bringing along three or four men in each weight division. Those showing the most promise to date are: 115 pound—H. O. Miller, Highland; Paul Y. Vincent, Lima, O.; 125 pound—Addison F. Wilber, Old Mission; Harold J. Oliver, Lansing; George A. Kerry, Benton Harbor; 135 pound—Norman Stoner, Lansing; Frank K. Pippler, Rockford; 145 pound—Richard S. Tompkins, St. Johns; J. E. Strom, Grand Marais; Theodore J. VanPatten, Litchfield; 155 pound—Merrill J. Marshall, E. Lansing; 165 pound—Paul G. Shephard, Swartz Creek; Charles E. Slaght, Grand Blanc; 175 pound—Russell W. Peterson, Gowen; Henry P. Widing, Pontiac; unlimited—Capt. Marion Joslin.

Addison, Stoner, Tompkins, Sotner and Marshall are all letter winners from last year's squad.

Harry K. Young, who captained football, basketball, baseball and track teams at Washington and Lee University in 1916 and 1917, will coach the freshman football team next fall.

AN OLD TIMER'S SCRAP BOOK

BY TIM McGRATH

When Jeffries Became La Savate Boxing Champion of France

YOU know of James J. Jeffries as ex-heavyweight champion of the world. I don't want to start an argument, but I wish to rise and state that he held another championship while in the ring, too. That was the la savate title for all of France.

After Jeff won the heavyweight title and was matched with Tom Sharkey, his manager, William A. Brady, now famous theatrical man, took him to Europe. While there, French promoters suggested a match with the la savate champion of France; Jeff to use fists according to Queensberry rules, the Frenchman to use feet and everything a la savate.

JEFF didn't like the idea of being kicked in the nose. However, he was being well paid, so he took the chance. The Frenchman weighed 140 pounds. The match was arranged for the Folies Marenoy theater in Paris.

It was an astounded Jeffries who saw his opponent answer the bell by leaving his corner on his toes, arms folded, and begin circling the ring like a ballet dancer.

Jeff went into his famous crouch, and warily and still puzzled, moved forward. The monsieur still eyed him and danced on his toes. Jeff wondered what to do, and finally feinted a couple of times.

Instead of hitting, the Frenchman leaped into the air, sailed over Jeff's head, and gave him a hard kick in the jaw as he passed. Jeff grew angry, and angrier still as the Frenchman's seconds claimed first blood, and the Frenchman pirouetted in a corner, arms folded, as Jeff rubbed his jaw. Then Jeff heard his brother, Jack Jeffries and John T. Barnes, his seconds, laughing.

JEFF turned to give them a call down—and just then, the Frenchman did an acrobatic black bottom and tried to jump over Jeff again.

Mad as he was, Jeff was half expecting this jump. He ducked his head to one side as the la savate man passed over him, and then shot out a stiff right to catch the Frenchman on the base of the neck just as he was alighting prettily.

It was several minutes later before the Frenchman was revived and convinced that he'd been hit by Jeffries and not thrown out of the Eiffel Tower.

Brady, ever the showman, cabled Jeff to take advantage of this break of luck, and make some money on it. Jeff ignored the cables.

"If I am the champion la savate boxer of France, I'm going to retire undefeated," he said. "No more of that kind of stuff for me."

Ski Association Changes By-Laws

Detroit, Jan. 20 (AP)—The American Ski association, which yesterday sponsored the first professional American ski tournament, adopted several changes in its by-laws at an all day convention here today.

The association decided that hereafter more credit shall be given to the form of skiers in judging contests, and named a committee of three to decide what shall now be considered the world record ski jump. Those on the committee are Gustave E. Lindboe secretary of the association; Anders Haugen and Sigard Ulland.

Must Be Members

It also was decided that skiers must be members of the association to take part in tournaments sponsored by the organization, and that members "must abide by the strict athletic rules of conduct and behavior."

The association will name fifteen members to participate in tournaments to be staged during February at Lake Tahoe, Calif., McCall, Idaho, and Ogden, Utah. these representatives must be named within ten days.

Plans Being Made for Bowling Meet at Cleveland, Ohio

Cleveland, Ohio—The exceptional growth of the American game of 10-pins will be exemplified fittingly in this city in March when Cleveland will be the host to thousands of bowlers representing all sections of the United States and Canada, the occasion being the thirtieth annual international championship tournament of the American Bowling Congress.

A quarter of a century ago Cleveland was the scene of the A. B. C. event. There were 112 five-man teams entered from 32 cities. At Chicago last year 279 cities were represented by 2,523 teams. Cleveland expects to shatter this new record by at least 100 quintets.

Looking back into the ancient history of 1904 Cleveland offered a local entry of 27 teams. The Cleveland Tournament company has guaranteed 1,000 teams from the Forest City for its 1930 event.

For a certainty the 560 men who rolled in that 1904 event could hardly have visioned what a tremendous growth the game would enjoy over a span of 25 years but figures show that the classic last year enlisted 12,615 entrants in the five-man event, 9,834 in the two-man event and 9,888 in the individual event—a total of 32,337 entrants in the three titular divisions.

A quarter of a century ago there were but scattering dozens of pins leagues holding A. B. C. sanctions. Today there are 4,395 leagues embracing 38,000 teams holding full sanctioned membership in 262 flourishing city associations throughout the country.

Attendants at the thirtieth renewal of the blue ribbon event will find conditions far different than did those pioneers of a generation ago. There will be no detraining at dilapidated depots far from hotels. They will descend at one the finest railroad and rapid transit terminals in the country, within five minutes walk of nearly all downtown hotels and diagonally across the public square from the building in which the tournament will be held.

The tournament is to be rolled in the west wing of the public auditorium. For the great event 32 new alleys will be installed. These will be in continuous operation from 9 a. m. to 1 a. m. daily over a period starting March 1 and ending April 6.

Entry for the tournament closes at midnight, Friday, November 1. Reservations may be made by communicating with Secretary A. L. Lantry, 187 Second street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Starting wtih a powerful attack, the Indees went on a scoring rampage which gave them a substantial 21 to 12 lead before the half had ended. Puckelwartz and DeMars aided the cause along with field goals in rapid succession for the Escanaba team.

In the third frame, the Nahma team opened up with everything they had been holding in reserve, and they pushed their total to 21 points while the Indees sent their mark to 27 points.

Warner finally proved the downfall of the Indees in the last period when he sank shot after shot into the net for markers and Nahma forged to the front with about five minutes to play and held a narrow lead thereafter.

Brooklyn, Without a Manager, is Planning For Bigger 1930 Season

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Brooklyn has no manager under contract but that is not interfering with plans for a bigger and better season in 1930. Contracts have gone forward to some two score players. The 66-year-old Wilbert Robinson, although not yet reelected either as president or manager, still is filling both posts to the satisfaction of 50 per cent of the owners.

Uncle Robby is enmeshed in the throes of a baseball civil war with the Ebbets interests standing solidly behind his administration and the McKeever half of the ownership anti-Robinson all the way from right field to third base.

Nothing to Worry About

President - Manager Robinson really has nothing to worry him, his friends say. If a compromise is reached by which a new president is named and Robinson reappointed manager, he will be happy on the bench. If no compromise can be fouund he can remain as president until a successor qualifies and in the meantime reappoint himself manager, dividing his time between the playing field and the office.

Brooklyn, although it could finish no better than sixth in 1929, had a successful year at the boxoffice. From a playing standpoint the season brought a series of nightmares, at the outset Glenn Wright, a great shortstop for Pittsburgh, pulled up with a lame arm which did not respond to treatment. The great Dazzy Vance, strikeout king and one of the game's great pitchers, was sick during a part of the campaign and won only one more than he lost. Other players, too, were indisposed, including D'Arcy Flowes, and Del Bissonette, capable infielders.

Wright's Status Doubtful

Wright's status will remain in doubt until he tries to throw at the Clearwater training camp. If his arm has regained its wizardry, the club probably will be made, for a good shortstop to team up with Bissonette, Eddie Moore and others.

Alfonzo Lopez, hard hitting young catcher who has spent the last two years at Macon and Atlanta preparing for his major league debut is reported ready and may do the bulk of the catching.

The pitching staff should be fair, even if none of the youngsters makes the grade. Vance, who will conduct extended negotiations before signing his contract, Clise Dudley, Win Ballou Watson Clark, Doug McWeeny, Johnny Morrison and Ray Moss compromise the chief pitching assets.

Felch, Mich., Jan. 20 (Special)—Coach Alford's quintet won their sixth consecutive victory by defeating Amasa Saturday at Felch by a score of 12-10.

Felch was minus the service of Clarence Blomquist, star guard. The game was slow at times, Felch exceeding in team work but missing many shots. Carlson playing guard for the first time, played well. The half ended 7 to 2 in favor of Felch. Carlson was injured in the second half. With the loss of two players Felch played a hard game.

Coach Blomquist's crew were unable to shoot long shots and they did not take the various chances to follow in shots. Many chances to score were hampered by much unnecessary dribbling. Blomquist's tactics are all long shots.

Bush Selects Kelly To Direct 1930 Sox

Chicago, Jan. 20 (AP)—Manager Donie Bush today selected Mike Bernard Kelly, erstwhile pilot of the Spartanburg, S. C., club of the Sally League, to keep direct the baseball destinies of the White Sox in 1930.

Although his major league career was confined to a short workout with the St. Louis Cardinals as catcher, Kelly is considered as a smart coach and Bush looks to him to help the White Sox in the coming American League race.

Kelly succeeds "Big Ed" Walsh, former White Sox ptiching star and coach, who is expected to confine his activities to scouting.

Bush refused to talk on the case of Arthur "The Great" Shires, fighting White Sox first baseman, today other than he expected Shires would be back at his former post when the training season started. Shires still is under suspension by the club and must be reinstated before contract terms are arranged.

DUDLEY LEADS GOLF TOURNEY

Shoots Par to Take Lead In World's Richest Tournament

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Agua Caliente, Lower California, Mexico, Jan. 20 (AP)—Blazing a trail through the first round of the world's richest golf tournament, Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., professional, today shot par golf to place himself in a one stroke lead over the field of 115 starters in the Agua Caliente $25,000 open tournament.

While Dudley was mixing brilliant golf with some rather mediocre play, to match his prowess against the treacherous course, MacDonald Smith, Long Island, N. Y., exponent of the great Scottish pastime, settled to the tedious and nerve wracking grind to shoot a steady 72 for second place.

Only two strokes behind the leader came Harold Long, Denver, a "dark horse" entrant, and Al Watrous, Detroit, with 73's to their credit.

Amateurs Fourth

Nine others, including a pair of amateurs climbed into fourth position by putting behind them the eighteen holes of play over the course made heavy by rains last night, with cards of 74.

Dudley, in turning his surprise score, displayed a dazzling brand of golf on the trying home nine to come in with a 34, two under standard figures, after covering the out nine in 37, two over par. He collected five birdies in his parade to the top, but had six bogies to counteract these best efforts.

Smith Goes Good

Smith went out from the start to match the perfect figures of the course, going out one over par. He came back with the same cautious golf, to equal 36. While his card showed only two birdies, he was over standard on only three holes.

In the fourth place tie came an array of those favored to make the strongest bid for the $10,000 first prize and 19 other money places. Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo.; El Espinosa, Chicago; Bobby Cruickshank, New York, Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Calif.; Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y.; Charles Guest, Los Angeles; and Ed Stokes, Denver, all had cards of 74 for their efforts.

Tied with them were two Simon pures, George Von Elm, Detroit, and Fay Coleman, Culver City, Calif., the nearest other amateur, Johnny Dawson of Chicago, turned in a 78.

Metropolitan Bears Defeat Felch, 16-14

Metropolitan, Mich., Jan. 20 (By Special Correspondent)—The Metropolitan City team, the "Bears," defeated the Felch City team, "The Pelicans," by a score of 16-14 at Felch Saturday.

The game was close throughout. Coach Alford of Felch was unable to play with Metropolitan as he was away on business.

The Pelicans were overconfident and were unable to play teamwork.

This is the first game in basketball that Metropolitan has defeated Felch for two years. A second of the series will be played at Metropolitan. The date will be announced later.

PUTNAM TALKS TO KIWANIANS

Tells of History and Work of U. P. Experimental Farm

Dairying is the most logical occupation for the upper peninsula farmer, according to G. W. Putnam, director of the U. P. experimental form at Chatham, who addressed the Escanaba Kiwanis club at the Ludington hotel yesterday noon. M. Putnam gave an interesting talk, tracing the history of the experimental station and reviewing its achievements.

"The dairy cow has proved its worth, and if you want to make money on an upper peninsula farm, stick to the dairy cattle," Mr. Putnam said.

The upper peninsula's progress in agriculture has been more rapid than in any part of the United States, according to Mr. Putnam, who brought out census figures to show that in 1899 theer were 6,102 farms comprising 600,000 acres in the peninsula, while in 1925 there were 13,008 farms of 1,290,000 acres. Today, about 15,000 farms are being operated, he continued. During the 30 year period, the value of the farms have increased from 11 million to 71 million dollars.

Farmers Are Guests

About a dozen Delta county farmers were guests of the club. Wheaton Strom, Escanaba high school student and member of the debating squad, told the Kiwanians about the impending forensic battle between Menominee and Escanaba high schools on Friday night. Joseph E. Turner, county agricultural agent, introduced Mr. Putnam, the principal speaker of the meeting.

Reviewing the history of the U. P. experimental station, Mr. Putnam said that it was established in 1899 under an act of legislature as an auxiliary project of Michigan State College to take care of the needs of upper peninsula agriculture.

The experimental farm first consisted of 160 acres, lying along the Munising railroad at Chatham, eighteen miles south and west of Munising, in Rock River township, Alger county. It is eight miles south of Au Train bay, on the south shore of Lake Superior, and from 250 to 300 feet above its level.

The 160 acres of land was donated to the state by the Munising Railroad company. In 1911, six hundred acres of land was added, the gift of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company. In 1921, the state board of agriculture purchased 40 acres adjacent to the original 160-acre farm, making the total land holdings of the station 800 acres.

U. P. Station Grows

"Like any other venture launched under pioneer conditions, the Chatham sub-station has had its ups and downs but throughout the twenty-eight years since its establishment it has maintained a steady growth and as the upper peninsula, as an agricultural section has changed, so also has the station changed, always keeping before the farmers the latest developments and latest practices in successful farming," Mr. Putnam said.

"The Chatham sub-station has been very fortunate in one respect, whereas, the management of the station has changed from time to time, the guiding hand behind its development has been the same from its inception. President R. S. Shaw of Michigan State College, former director of the Michigan Experiment station, has had continuous charge of the development of the station. His broad knowledge of Michigan agriculture and his intense interest in the station has assured wise counsel in the administration of the station at all times.

"Starting with only twenty acres of cleared land in 1900, the station now has 350 acres of cleared land of which 300 is excellent plow land with an inventory of land, buildings, livestock and equipment of over $100,000.

Has Fine Dairy Herd

"The station established a purebred herd of Holstein-Friesian dairy cattle in 1913. It is now one of the best herds in the state. The nineteen milking cows in the herd give adequate opportunity for the working out of the various problems of dairy farming in the upper peninsula.

"With a sheep flock of 300 head the station is in position to give first-hand information on the care and management of sheep in the peninsula and with the vast areas of cut-over pasture available, the raising of sheep is being carefully considered by those interested in developing these cut-over lands.

"The raising of hogs in an area to which corn, the natural feed of hogs, is not adapted has been one of the problems of the station. The past three years the station hogs have not received any corn and have made creditable gains from crops which are adapted to the upper peninsual.

Commercial Poultry Raising

"One of the newer developments in the agricultural industry of the peninsula is that of commercial poultry raising. To be able to give the necessary aid to these poultrymen the station has just completed a new $5,000 plant which will accommodate 600 birds of several breeds and provide for trapnesting records and the hatching of between 2,000 and 3,000 chicks of the better strains.

Horse Breeding Encouraged

"The station has appreciated the part that tractors and trucks are doing in modern agricultrure but believing that the horse is more suitable for much of the work on upper peninsula farms. A stud of Belgian horses was established in 1926 to foster and encourage horse breeding.

"Appreciating the fact that the problem of what crop to grow and how best to handle the crop was of paramount importance, the station, in co-operation with the farm crops department of the Michigan State College, employed a trained crop experimenter in 1919 and since that time special work has been conducted in the testing out of known strains of crops and selecting out new strains which might prove to be superior under upper peninsula conditions.

Is Model Farm

"The station at the present time is functioning, first, as a model farm demonstrating the approved methods of management in its various divisions of livestock and crop enterprises; second, as an experiment station in which problems that cannot be worked out at the East Lansing station, because of physical difficulties, are worked out here. In many of these problems trained experimenters in that particular field of research at the East Lansing station are in charge of the project. Thus, bringing the research facilities of the Michigan State College directly to the upper peninsula.

Achievements and Results

"Achievements and results are not always easy to measure but in the minds of a majority of the people of the upper peninsula the Chatham sub-station has given the service for which it was intended. Perhaps the outstanding achievement has been the fact that at all times the station has worked hand in hand with other agencies throughout the peninsula to keep agricultural deveopment in the area on a sound and economical basis. As a result of this policy the people have confidence in the station and confidence in the information that it disseminates.

"The annual Farmers' Round-Up held each year in August is one of the big agricultural features of the year.

"In the past eight years approximately 2,000 boys and girls have been encamped on the station grounds for Boys' and Girls' Club Week. This camp, known as 'Camp Shaw,' is conducted by the boys' and girls' club department of the Michigan State College."

Game Wardens Are Charged With Framing Newberry Man

Newberry, Mich., Jan. 20 (Special)—The inside story of the circumstances connected with the arrest of Wm. MacInnes, Newberry, for bootlegging fur, was related by Joseph Williams, one of the parties implicated in the affair, in an exclusive interview granted the Newberry News.

That MacInnes was the victim of a frame-up is indicated by William's story as published by the News. It follows:

"MacInnes was arrested on August 7 by Conservation Officers Julius Thorsen, Bert Furst and Deputy Agler, the latter from the Lansing office of the conservation department. MacInnes was driving a car and 34 beaver hides besides a number of muskrat hides were found in his possesion A loaded rifle was also found in the car besides a revolver on MacInnes' person. MacInnes is now being held in the county jail on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

"At MacInnes' examination it developed that he had purchased the hides from Joseph Williams and Prosecutor Sayles demanded that Williams be brought into court. The conservation officers demurred, claiming that it was unnecessary, but upon the insistence of the prosecutor, finally consented to bring him in the following day. The next day Williams had disappeared and the officers reported that he could not be found. Several weeks elapsed before Williams was finally arrested, led guilty to a violation of the conservation law and was fined $100.

"After the Manistique scandal broke, and in which according to court testimony, a similar frame-up is indicated, and in which Conservation Officers Julius Thorsen and Fred Kimmel of Newberry and Bert Furst of Seney are implicated, Williams decided to talk. Here is the story of his part in the alleged MacInnes frame-up.

"Previous to the MacInnes arrest, Williams alleges that he was approached by Thorsen with a proposition that he act as a sort of under cover or plain clothes man and that he would be placed on the pay roll of the department (the latter part of the arrangement was never fulfilled). MacInnes was under suspicion of running furs, and a scheme was entered into to catch him with the goods. Williams arranged to sell MacInnes a quantity of beaver hides. The day of the transfer a man known to Williams only by the name of Pete, of Munising, and who is said to be in the employ of the conservation department, appeared at the Williams home and turned over to him 34 beaver hides. These Williams sold to MacInnes in the presence of Pete for 410 dollars and retained the money. The market value of the hides was $1000. He claims Thorsen, Agler and Furst knew all about the proposed transfer, laid in wait for MacInnes and placed him under arrest before he reached Newberry. Williams avers that all but two of the hides sold to MacInnes were property of the state.

In explaining his disappearance Williams said it was at the suggestion and with the connivance of the conservation officers, that he went to Seney and Munising where he remained for several days until the affair had quieted down to some extent.

Ford River Man Denies Larceny of Shawl Nets

Hearing in the case of Oscar Johnson, Ford River fisherman, charged with the larceny of about $700 worth of nets from the Shawl interests, is scheduled for Friday afternoon in Justice J. S. Doherty's Court.

Johnson was arrested by police at Michigan City, Ind., on the local complaint, and was brought back to the city by undersheriff J. P. Carney. Arraigned in justice court, the local man denied knowledge of the theft, and gave bonds in the amount of $1,000 for his appearance at the hearing Friday. He had taken his fishing equipment to Michigan City, and intended to fish out of that port during the winter months, he told officers.

Sick Man Walks 2 Miles To Get Escanaba Train

Francis Spoke of Florence, Wis., was admitted at St. Francis hospital yesterday suffering with appendicitis and pleurisy. He was taken ill at his farm home two miles from Florence, and as the snow was very deep in that section, it was impossible to use a car to reach the railroad depot. He set out to walk the distance with his sister, Mrs. Frank Gravelle of Rapid River, who had been at the farm a few days, and boarded the train for this city.

He was extremely tired when he arrived at the local hospital, but was able to prepare himself for bed.

Mother! Do You Know the Danger of A Cough from Colds?
Mother, if the youngsters play hard and "take cold," if for any of a dozen other reasons they get "sick with a cold," stop it as fast as you can. Don't let it hang on. Colds that stay and stay, too often weaken the system and lead into some serious sickness.
If any of your youngsters develop a cough from a cold that hangs on, use sensible precautions immediately and give them Creomulsion. Help their strong, youthful bodies to fight coughs from colds with Creomulsion. It is pleasant, easy to take.
Creomulsion is an old remedy now. Millions know its merits and like it. We guarantee that it will relieve coughs from colds, or we'll refund your money.
